It's official now: basketall team is el numero uno in Section Three

The Donegal Indians became the official Section 3 basketball champions last Friday when they rolled over E-Town 83-57.

Donegal will take on the Section 1 winner February 18 at Hempfield, in the first intersectional playoff.

John Fellenbaum paced the Indians with 24 points. Miller was next with 16. Bob Barto canned 10, Bradley 9, Weber 8, McKercher 7, McCue 5, Gallagher 2, and Milligan 2.

Earlier in the week, the Indians destroyed Elco 95-58.

Fellenbaum tallied 26 points, Miller added 19, McKercher sank 13, Barto scored 12, McCue canned 9, Weber shot 8, Bradley put 6 points on the board, and Gallagher hit once for 2.

Letter to editor

The Marietta Jaycees held wives appreciation night last weekend to show their appreciation to all the wives and girlfriends that put time and the extra effort into many projects throughout the year. We hope that all who attended had an enjoyable evening. We once again thank all wives and girlfriends for their help throughout the year.

The Jaycees have also placed coin boxes throughout stores in our community to help us give this years 4th of July fireworks a bigger bang. We are striving for a bigger and better celebration in this our becentennial year. Your contributions can and will be appreciated - thank you.

Respectfully,
Harvey E. Reem
Publicity Chairman

Mount Joy Boro Authority opens bids for fuel oil, salt

Mount Joy Boro Authority opened bids for fuel oil and sodium chloride at their Tuesday, February 3, meeting.

The low bid of 35.5 per gal for fuel oil went to Agway Petroleum Corp., Syracuse, NY. Other bids were Sico Company, Mount Joy, 37.4 per gal.; Garber Oil Company, Mount Joy, 36.4 per gal.; and C. E. Lutz, Elizabethtown, 36.8 per gal.

The low bid accepted for sodium chloride was from Watkins Salt Company, Watkins Glen, N. Y., $26.73 per ton. One other bid was received from International Salt Co., Stamford, Conn. for $26.83 per ton.

In other business, Boro Manager, Joseph Bateman, reviewed the third quarter reports of the water and sewer accounts. The only noticeable increase was in the supply accounts. Bateman said the report shows that only eight per cent of the budgeted account for water supplies remain and cited rising cost of chemicals as the reason. All other areas are in good operating condition and are staying within the budget amounts.

The Authority adopted a resolution authorizing Bateman to act on behalf of that body, regarding Federal Flood reimbursement. The Authority suffered approximately $1,500 damages from flood waters this past year.

A discussion on the type of materials for the new water treatment plant building brought no decision. A study of cost differences will decide whether the building will be all brick, or a stone-brick combination.

The site of the new plant is approximately one quarter mile west of Mount Joy on Carmany Road. Construction is well under way.

It was announced that a planned garage will be used to house borough equipment. The borough manager said the building will be the planned size, but will be built with different materials. He is checking further for better prices.

William Hopple, 107 Columbia Avenue, was hired as a new meter reader.
