7 Vo-tech students won prizes

Stephen Kachniasz, teacher of distributive education at Mount Joy Vo-Tech High School, announced last week that seven students from the school won prizes in a statewide contest for marketing research studies they carried out.

Pattie Dinkel won a first prize for a study of junior sportswear that was sponsored by Gimbels in Park City.

Laueella Smith won a second prize for a study in food industry sponsored by MacDonald's.

Jim McCulley won a second prize for a study of petroleum products.

Jessie Hess, won a third prize for an automotive and petroleum study sponsored by Sico.

Portia Hossler won a third prize for a jewelry study sponsored by Musselman's.

Kathy Rank won third place as female student of the year and with it, a $100 scholarship.

Betty Shearer won a fourth prize for a study of the variety store industry sponsored by W. T. Grant.

Twelve thousand students from 93 schools all over the state participated in the contest.

Basketball banquet is scheduled

John Clark, a national figure in basketball, will be the speaker for the Donegal banquet on April 9 at 6:30 at Donegal High School.

High winds sent everything flying across Mount Joy last Saturday

Eighty mile per hour winds tore across Mount Joy during a brief but violent storm last Saturday. A miniature tornado picked up a 100 foot chicken house owned by John E. Melhorn, Sr., of Donegal Springs Road, and threw it to the ground. The wind lifted a patio roof over the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brackbill of Donegal Springs Road. The patio roof landed in the street on the far side of the house. Timbers from the roof were driven through a car's back window. A 100 foot tree fell on the roof of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Charles of Pine Street.
