Tintypes at bicen ball

Guests at the Marietta-Maytown-East Donegal bicentennial ball can be photographed by the century-old tintype process.

Photographer H. Dyer Bentzel and his antique camera will be on hand.

All those posing will be clamped into their chains so they won't move during the 45 second exposure time.

The photos will cost $15 each. Prints are 3 inches X 4 inches.

The tintype process does not require a negative. It was used during the American Civil War.

Miss MJ pageant

by Kathy Bower

There is still time for local girls to enter the Miss Mount Joy Pageant. Contestants will receive scholarships, merchandise, and other awards. The Pageant, sponsored by the Mount Joy Jaycees and Joyceettes is open to all single girls between 17 and 25 who reside in the Donegal School District. The Pageant will be held on Saturday, May 22 at the W.I. Beahm Junior High School auditorium.

A panel of five judges will select "Miss Mount Joy" based on personal interviews and competition in talent, evening gown, and swim suit. Miss Mount Joy will begin her reign by presiding over Mount Joy's week of Bicentennial activities.

Any girl interested in entering the Pageant should contact Mrs. William Bower at 653-4460 by April 15, 1976.

Bus to Miss Pa.

Bus tickets to the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant should be obtained by April 24th. Local people will be especially interested in this year's pageant because Gloria Longenecker of Mount Joy will be a contestant.

Because of various aspects of processing the Pennsylvania Pageant reservation tickets, it is necessary to have all orders in 1 1/2 months before the time of the Pageant which is scheduled for June 10, 11 and 12. All tickets will have to be ordered no later than April 24th, in order to guarantee reservations. The three day Pageant will be climaxed with the Crowning of the new Miss Pennsylvania during the Saturday evening event. Miss Lancaster County—1976 will be featured in this highlighting portion of the Pageant only if she is selected by the judges as one of the finalists, based on performances of previous evenings.

Lancaster Countians will be grouped in one area of the Altoona auditorium, each one given a red rose for the purpose of identification. Officials of the Lancaster County Scholarship Pageant also encourage the displaying of placards and banners and will personally cue the group to dramatize moral support of our own candidate, Miss Gloria L. Longenecker.

For the Saturday evening feature, bus accommodations have been arranged. For details, call Mrs. S. Martin Witman, R.D. #1, Marietta, Pa. 17547. Her phone number is 717/653-5358. The blanket cost is $12.00.

Mount Joy Boro Council plans to make street one way

Mount Joy Borough Council Monday night voted to make Rose Alley, which runs south from W. Main Street, one-way south for a 30-day trial period to see if it relieves traffic congestion in the area.

At the same time, businesses in the Wood Street area were asked to reroute heavy trucks to help preserve the streets in that area.

Council agreed to bag parking meters along Main Street for special sales days at the request of borough merchants. Meters will be bagged on Aug. 12-14, Oct. 7-9 and Dec. 10-24.

Council said it will study a request made by the Mount Joy Friendship Fire Company to turn over a $500 rescue saw now used by the police department to the fire department. Dough Estock, fire company president, said the fire company would have more use for the saw.

A petition to rezone a five acre tract along Route 230 from R-3 to general commercial was received from J.B. Hostetter, the owner of the tract. Hostetter said Hess-Ulrich, a Mount Joy auto dealer, is interested in building a new car showroom on the site. The matter was referred to the borough's planning commission.

Bids received on a mower and garden tractor were rejected Monday night b rejected Monday night because of an error in the published specifications.

The specifications will be readvertised to include the fact that the borough wants to try the mower for 15 days before signing a final purchase agreement.

Council noted that an item in a newsletter recently sent to borough residents noted that the borough would fund a Summer playgrouh program. The borough will only partially fund the program, with other financing coming from service clubs and parents organizations.

A request for $141.31 from the Visiting Nurses Association of Lancaster County was rejected by council.

School board to meet Thurs.

The Donegal School Board will meet on Thursday, April 15 at 8:00 p.m. at the Washington School.

The board plans to set a date for Community On Government meeting with district municipal officials.

Bids on lawn mowers, incinerators, mowing of lawns and cafeteria equipment will be opened.

Items to be discussed are:

the recommendation of a winter coaching staff; a decision on whether Mount Joy Boro's district student insurance coverage should be extended to include the summer playground; plans for a voluntary fluoride treatment program at Riverview School; and discussion on having the board negotiating team designate for P.S.E.A. union custodial negotiations.

Seiler invites public

Seiler Elementary School and Home meeting will be held Tuesday, April 27 at 7:15 at Seiler cafeteria.

Election of 76-77 officers and exploration DARE reading program will be discussed. Donegal Rythm Singers under the direction of Mrs. RoAnn Lau will be present.

The public is invited.

CCC opposes sewers

Mount Joy Township Concerned Citizens Committee (CCC), opponents of proposed $5.1 million sewerage project, have apparently won a meeting with federal officials.

Mrs. Donald Yoder, CCC secretary, told township supervisors Friday that U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) aerial photos and plans for the 75,000 foot sewer line, which many residents claim is too extravagant, too expensive.

The meeting will include EPA officials, CCC representatives, township supervisors, and the sewer authority, which approved the project.

Supervisors also awarded road material bids for:

Base and blacktop, to McMinn's Asphalt, East Petersburg.

Road oil, to Stapf-Bestco, Harrisburg.

Stone, to Union Quarries, Rheems.

A special planning commission meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m., April 22 to consider changes in the township zoning ordinance.
