Marietta approves apartment complex

Marietta Borough Council approved the proposed plans for the Fairfax Apartment Development at a meeting yesterday.

The 48-unit structures to be built at Essex Street and Colebrook Road, must have adequate provision for surface water drainage and the transportation of sewage through the collection lines to the sewage plant.

The owner will underwrite the cost of investigation to correct the possible problem.

Council's approval will permit the proposed plans to be presented to the Lancaster County Planning Commission.

A petition to vacate a portion of West Hazel Avenue, between Jones and Biddle streets by U.S. Aluminum Corporation, was denied.

Marlin M. Connel, owner of the Railroad House was granted approval to operate an outdoor cafe.

Residents are urged to comply with the ordinance restricting hours for placing garbage containers at pick-up points. Trash may only be placed the evening prior to collection and containers must be removed before dusk the same day.

A delegation of Jaycees attended the session informing Council $1000 worth of glass has been purchased by them to replace broken windows in the building owned by them. They requested assistance in protecting the glass. The group will replant the square plot in cooperation with the Lions club this week the civic organizations maintain this area.

Council also —Accepted the resignation of Barbara Kirvinskee as deputy housing inspector;
—authorized the housing committee to inspect vacant structures within the borough;
—exonerated one resident from Boro per capita tax;

Hwey Mei Connolly and daughter Becky

Hwey Mei Connolly becomes U.S. citizen

Among the thirty people who become naturalized citizens in ceremonies at the Lancaster County Courthouse Friday, May 14, were Koreans, Germans, Canadians, Greeks, and one Chinese. That one Chinese was a young woman from Maytown, Hwey Mei Connolly.

Mei as she's called by her friends was born and raised in Tainan, a city in the southern part of Taiwan. After finishing High School, she went to work on an American Air Force Base. There she met and married Allan Connolly on October 9, 1969. In June of 1971, the Connolly family moved back to Allan's native Massachusetts. When college was finished, Allan received a job as chief of Respiratory Therapy at Columbia Hospital and moved the family to Lancaster County.

Now the Connollys live in the Villager Townhouses in Maytown with their 2 children, Becky and Bryan. It seems a fitting celebration of the nation's birth for the Connolly family to have a new citizen in the family.

Chickies Rock to get spring clean-up

At 9 a.m., Saturday, May 22, a Spring Clean Up sponsored by the Lancaster County Conservancy is planned for the Chickies Rock and the Holtwood Pinnacle areas. Volunteers should meet in the parking lot of the area of their choice. Pick up trucks are needed to haul the collected trash.

Minors wishing to participate must obtain release forms at the Penn Square or Park City offices of Commonwealth National Bank and have them signed by a parent or guardian. Contact Stacy Stegemerten at 394-1858 for further information or to arrange transportation to the areas.
