When Kenneth Johns walked into work last Wednesday, he was surprised by his secretary's greeting. "Hi, Merv!" she said.

The secretary had seen her boss picked as one of five Merv Griffin lookalikes while watching the "Merv Griffin Show" the night before.

It all started last Spring when Kenneth's neighbor, Ruth Arnold, took a picture of him and sent it to Hollywood after hearing of the contest. Ken didn't hear any more about it until he went to work last week (he and his family often watch Merv Griffin, but they missed it that particular day).

Since then he has received a letter on embossed Merv Griffin Productions stationery, from Robert J. Murphy, the show's manager. Mr. Murphy is offering Kenneth not only a Vivitar pocket camera, but also an all-expenses-paid, two-day trip to Hollywood.

The letter also states that Kenneth's name was picked from a drum by "the famous Miss Miller".

Ken isn't sure if he'll go yet. He just got back from a four-week cross-country vacation trip to (among other places) California. "I might have timed it differently if I'd known what was going on," he said.

Ken Johns looks like some other people, too (or maybe they also look like Merv Griffin!). At Reich's Church, another member of the congregation resembles him so much that people have addressed Ken by the other man's name.

"People mentioned my resemblance to Merv Griffin more frequently in the past," Ken says. "We had the same hairstyle then."

And when did his wife first notice the similarity? "I always thought he looked like Kenneth, myself," she said.

Demos. announce fund raising picnic

The Committee to Elect Democrats in 76 is sponsoring its first fund-raising (and fun-raising) event at Lancaster County Park on Sunday, July 11. Everything begins at twelve noon and the day's festivities include food (good old picnic fare such as Polish Sausage, corn on the cob, watermelon, and iced tea), a bake sale, games for adults and children, and music for everybody. The park's very large swimming pool and its other recreational facilities are available.

Several Democratic candidates from around the county will be attending the event during the course of the day; activities will conclude at six p.m., and everyone is welcome to attend. Enter from the main entrance on Chesapeake Street and look for the first pavilion along the drive to the right.
