PP & L offers public facilities for picnicking and boating on River

If you haven't yet put your boat in the water this summer and are looking for a public launch area on a major river, you'll be interested to know that PA Power & Light Company offers a boat access area.

Launch ramps and, in some instances, picnic facilities are found on the upper Susquehanna River at the Sunbury Steam Electric Station (SES), the lower Susquehanna at Brunner Island SES and on the Delaware River at Martins Creek SES between the towns of Martins Creek and Belvidere, N.J.

The public is invited to use a boat launch area and picnic facilities near the mouth of the Conewago Creek. Here the mile-wide Susquehanna has a moderate current and boaters are cautioned about turbulent waters upstream at the York Haven Dam.
