

Limerick Lion roars approval of DARE reading program here

Photo shows the Limerick Lion with youngsters at Riverview Elementary School. The lion pats kids on the head, sits on teachers' laps, and roars a lot. If anyone pulls his tail, the lion hits the culprit with the big book he always carries.

Did your child win a reading award last year? Do you remember Project DARE (Donegal's Adventurous Reading Experiences)? If you can answer "Yes" to both questions, you have a chance to help your child do it again this year. If your child missed out last year, he has another chance.

Project D.A.R.E. II descended on Donegal's four elementary schools this week. "Wonder Worm" is out and the "Limerick Lion" is in. Mrs. Boozer, reading coordinator, and the furry creature visited Maytown on Tuesday at 8:40 a.m., Grandview on Wednesday at 8:40 a.m., and Seiler and Riverview on Thursday at 9:15 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. respectively.

Mrs. Boozer explained project revisions and requirements while "The Limerick Lion" delighted the children with poetic antics and curled up in the corner with a good book. The film leased on Marlo Thomas' book, "Free to Be You and Me" followed.

Each child took the first issue of Donegal's Elementary Reading Newsletter, "The Reading Record" home. Ask your child if you haven't seen it yet. The whole issue is devoted to the explanation of Project D.A.R.E. II.

A new introductory award is being offered to children in kindergarten, and interim students this year. An adult or older child must read fifty books to the child for him to be introduced to the world of literature and win the certificate.

Cornerstone of new addition laid at Crossroads Brethren Church

Members of the Crossroads Brethren in Christ Church, Mount Joy, set the cornerstone in their addition to the main structure before the regular morning worship Sunday.

A box containing the following items was inserted in the stone prior to its being secured as a permanent fixture:

A brochure by J. Wilmer

Heisey, chairman of the building campaign, containing information on the ground breaking; an annual report of the congregational Directory (placed by John Wolgemuth, secretary of the Church Box); an issue of the "Evangelical Visitor" the denominations publication (placed by Mrs. Lester H. Wolgemuth, correspondent); Mount Joy's Bicentennial book (placed by Burnell Heisey, president of the Mount Joy Bicentennial Committee). The cornerstone was sealed by Lloyd Myers, chairman of Church Board, and Lester Wolgemuth, church treasurer.

The Rev. Allen B. Dourte Pastor, conducted the service for the laying of the cornerstone.

Kids raise money for missionary fund by rocking all night at Assembly of God

The Rockathon gets underway at Marietta Assembly of God Church.

Young people of Marietta Assembly of God Church held an all night "Rock-A-Thon" to raise money for missionaries around the world.

Twenty-one members of the Christ Ambassadors club sat in rocking chairs for 12 hours Friday night.

Pastor E. Leroy Hoover said that the young people hoped to raise a $1,000 for the "Speed the Light" missionary program.

James Shrum of Mount Joy is the young peoples' leader.

Candy Flowers wins roller skating award

Rollerdrome.

A pupil of Mrs. Florence M. Cramer, Candy plans to take her Bronze Dance test in January.

She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shannon, Marietta.

Florin firemen pass vehicle rescue course

Seventeen men from Friendship Fire Co. No. 1, Mount Joy have received certificates of completion in the State Vehicle Rescue Course. Anthony Malvoso, the instructor presented the certificates at the monthly meeting on October 7.

The 16 hour course was September 18 and 19. The men are now properly trained in all phases of vehicle rescue. With this training and the recently acquired Hurst Tool, complemented with other rescue equipment, the department is now better equipped than in the past.

The purchase of the Hurst Tool and required training has already paid off as the department has answered 3 calls in the last 2 weeks that required the Hurst Tool.

The following individuals received certificates:

Chief Frank Good; Asst. Chief Jim Markley; Captain Gerald Grove; 1st Lieutenant George Hedrick; 2nd Lieutenant Dennis Grove; Jeff Brian; Jere Joffmaster; John Miller; Leo Shank.

Dennis Fackler; Bob Gantz; Don Snyder; Galen Rutt; Nelson Boll; Jim Nolt; John Wealand; and Doug Estock.

Donegal senior class to sell fancy candles

The Donegal High School Senior Class is sponsoring a project to raise money for senior class activities. The campaign will be initiated on Thursday, October 21, and will conclude on Monday, October 25th.

Senior class members will be taking orders for an assortment of nine beautiful decorator designed candles. Each elegant candle has an unique etchtone design in glowing colors over a translucent finish and is filled with a delicately scented bayberry wax. A graceful leaf-design black wrought iron wall sconce or wrought iron candle holder is also available for displaying these ornamental candles.

Be sure to place an order with any senior and help them reach their goal.
