

Jim Gutshall demonstrates how to run the new State Lottery betting machine at Herr's Market. The Machine, which communicates with a computer in Harrisburg at all times, records the hopefully lucky number you choose and gives you a ticket with your number on it. The machine also displays the winning numbers of last week's draw. Electronics makes possible a lottery without paper: winning numbers can be generated randomly by computers, and checking accounts using magnetic disks to keep track of your bank balance are already appearing, doing away with the need for checks written on paper.

Elwood Myers, new scoutmaster of Troop 53, keeps the kids active Troop 53 is back in action again with a new scoutmaster—Elwood Myers. Under Mr. Myer's leadership, the Scout troop has become very active.

Trips to Canada are planned for May and the summer. An Italian banquet will be held February 12. There will be a show for the parents. Some may receive well-deserved rewards.

Awards were handed out at the last meeting. Kip and Jere Embly got their Tenderfoot badges; Jay Shank received his First Class badge and the Historian office; Steve Henry got the Architecture and Masonry Merit badges;

Frank Splain got the Metal, Printing and Reading Merit badges.

The troop is looking for new Scouts. If you are 11 years or older, the troop invites you to come to their meetings and join the fun.

Meetings are held at the St. John's Lutheran Church in Maytown every Monday night at 7 o'clock.

Sutter pitches at nursery school

The kids at Zion Evangelical Nursery School got baseball lessons from a pro last week.

Bruce Sutter, the Donegal High graduate who pitches for the Chicago Cubs, taught the youngsters some fundamentals, and pitched an entire game. (Bruce did the hurling for both teams. The game ended in a 5-5 tie.)

Bruce's son Josh, and the other pupils, studied baseball all day. The day's lessons included: counting to 10 (which helps, if you want to know who won) and understanding baseball terms. Everybody was treated to popcorn at the game.

The school is staffed by Mrs. Cheryl Ronan, teacher and Mrs. Jodie Linard, teacher's aide.

Alan Bernstein

Alan S. Bernstein, managing director of Wyeth Laboratories, Inc., Marietta, recently was elected to the board of directors of United Way of Lancaster County to serve a three year term.
