Holy Week at St. John's Episcopal

St. John's Episcopal Church, Marietta, will set the theme for Holy Week by the traditional parading and blessing of the palms on Palm Sunday, April 3, at 10 a.m. Biblical history tells us that Christ was welcomed into the city of Jerusalem by shouts of Hosannah and that palm branches were strewn in the roadway to make his way easier.

The blessing of the Palms, the celebration of the Holy Eucharist, and the singing of "Palms" by Sylvia Minick, guest soloist, will relive that incident in the life of our Lord.

The crucifer will be Phyllis Shope, lay readers will be Christine Secrest and David Marley, and the acolyte will be David Deit-rick. Torch bearers will be Shirley Wilt and Marjorie Arnold.

Palms will be distributed and the public is invited.

Scientists can't tell male penguins from females, and neither can the penguins themselves. To mate, they must go through an elaborate ritual involving a rock and dancing, which tells them if the other penguin is of the proper sex.
