

Good news for women who want to start a career again

Two prominent women to share knowledge of career growth opportunities with other women

Two prominent women will be guest speakers at a conference entitled "Greater Re-entry Opportunities for Women"--GROW-- to be held at Penn State-Capitol Campus on Sat., April 16. Caryl Kline, director of continuing education at the University of Pittsburgh and recently nominated Secretary of Education by Governor Milton Shapp, and Jean Lewis, assistant administrator of A.I.D., Washington, D.C. will share their wealth of knowledge and experience as well as their dynamic perspectives on career opportunities for women.

Caryl Kline, director of continuing education for women at the University of Pittsburgh is also a member of the Pittsburgh City Planning Commission, the board of directors of the Pennsylvania State Colleges and University, the Psychological Service of Pittsburgh, and the Home

Mortgage Opportunity Committee of Pittsburgh. She is a prominent planner and speaker for women's programs and has served as a special ambassador to Sierra Leone.

Jean Lewis is presently assistant administrator for Legislative Affairs at the Agency for International Development (A.I.D.). She has served as a staff assistant to Senator John

Jean Lewis

Caryl Kline

F. Kennedy and has been a White House staff person during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. In 1967 she became the congressional advisor for the Alliance for Progress for the Agency for International Development which led to her present position. Most recently she has received the Superior Honors Award from the Agency for International Development.

The conference will be held at the Student Center on Sat., April 16 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The fee for the conference is $5 which included lunch, panel discussions, keynote speakers and workshops. Pre-registration is encouraged.
