

Farm Women's Society

by Pauline E. Miller

Farm Women's Society #8 met April 16, at 2 p.m., in the home of Phyllis Endslo, Marietta R.D. 1. The meeting was in charge of Kathryn Heisey, the Society president.

Mr. Stanley Dotterer of Elizabethtown entertained the group with numerous selections on the organ. He serves as organist at the Donegal Presbyterian Church. He included devotional Easter thoughts with the music.

the presentation.

Twenty-five members and two guests were present. Secretary Mary Grace Martin read the minutes and Elizabeth Shuman gave the Treasurer's report.

Twenty-one members were entertained recently at Quarryville by Society #20.

Viola Greider expressed appreciation to the Society for flowers given her during recent shut-in days, and Anna Wolgemuth sent a note of thanks for flowers given her after the passing of her father.

Hostesses providing refreshments were Phyllis Endslo, Isabel Endslo, Anna Wolgemuth and Anna Chapman.

The next meeting will be held in the Chiques Methodist Church, Mount Joy RD, on May 21 at 2 a.m.. Mr. Ralph Schneider from the York area will display many objects he has made from gourds. Society #27 will be entertained at this meeting.

Art at Penn State

The inventive genius and foresight of Leonardo da Vinci is depicted in an exhibition running April 20 thru May 20 in the Gallery Lounge at Penn State Capitol Campus.

The exhibition of the 15th century artist-scientist's work is on loan from the IBM Corporation. Twenty-two models built from Leonardo's scientific and technical drawings will be on display.

Both practical and theoretical devices will be shown. Among them are a paddlewheel ship, a theoretical gear system that produces three speeds of rotation, an ornithopter to aid propulsion in flying, an armored tank, a scaling ladder, and a hygrometer for measuring humidity. Many of these devices were never realized until the last century.

The exhibit is free and the public is invited.
