New wing dedicated at Crossroads Church

Nancy Heisey, left, and Leslie Engle, right, pose before their creation, unveiled last Saturday at the dedication of the new wing of the Cross Roads Brethren in Christ Church in Mount Joy. Designed by Nancy, the sculpture was made by Leslie - about 40 hours work. It consists of a cross, an outlined dove (symbolizing peace), and a basin and towel (for service). The materials are wood, pipe, copper sheeting, and a section of house siding.

Pastor Allon Dourte poses beside the cornerstone of the new wing of the Cross Roads Brethren in Christ Church. The dedication service, held last Saturday, included speeches by visiting pastors from Chiques Methodist (Rev. Woodrow Kern), E-town Brethren in Christ Church (Rev. Elbert Smith), Bishop Charlie B. Byers, and former pastor at the Cross Roads, B. E. Thuma.

Health care made available to senior citizens

The Lancaster County Office of Aging will introduce a series of Health Seminars at the Columbia Senior Center located in First English Lutheran Church, Columbia, on Thursday from May 19 to June 16.

The Seminars are open to all citizens over 60 years old, and are designed to make health care professionals and health screening accessible to senior citizens. The seminars are aimed towards preventive medicine and stress a personal responsibility in health care.

Any senior citizen may register for the seminars by calling center manager, Mrs. Romaine Morrow at the Columbia Senior center, 684-4850 by May 16. Class size will be limited. Transportation will be provided where possible.

The Office of Aging operates 6 senior centers throughout the county, including one in Mount Joy. The centers are all open Monday through Friday and offer recreation, socialization, educational programs, a noon meal, crafts and programs by many community people. There is no charge for these ser-

VICES, but donations are accepted.
