Local Vo-Tech students receive top awards

On Monday, May 2, 1977 the 31st Annual National Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) Career Development Conference closed in Anaheim, California with a local Mount Jy Vo-Tech and Manheim Central student receiving a top National Award.

Vickie Schilling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schilling, 357 Elwyn Terrace, Manheim, won a second place national award for her 60 page marketing research study on floor covering. She was entered in the Studies in Marketing, Home Furnishings category which was sponsored by Gehman's Furniture & Interiors of Mount Joy.

Vickie won first place in the State competition in March. At the National competition, April 26 to May 2, she competed with over 6,000 Distributive Education students from all 50 states, Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, and Guam. These delegates represent over 180,000 Distributive Education students in the country.

Her 60 page report titled "Wall to Wall" was judged on Marketing research techniques, visual sales appeal, topic, depth of study, originality and purpose. The project took over 600 hours to complete and included a telephone survey of residents of the Central Lancaster County Area.

The Distributive Education and DECA program prepares students for more than seventy different jobs and careers related to marketing goods and services. The high school and vocational-technical school programs offer classroom instruction in subjects such as: Advertising, Visual Display, Communications, Human Relations, Salesmanship, Merchandising, Management, Product and Service Knowledge, Merchandising Mathematics and Small Business Operations. Students display their expertise in these subject areas by participating in DECA competition which is judged by business and marketing professionals.

Stephen Kachniasz is the instructor of the Mount Joy Vo-Tech School's Distributive Education program.

Stacy Miller candidate for Keystone Girls State

Miss Stacy Miller, a junior at Donegal High School, has been selected as Mount Joy American Legion Auxiliary, Walter S. Ebersole, Unit #185's candidate for Keystone Girls State.
