Last week Miss Ettaro's kindergarten class at Grandview school presented The Wizard of Oz, their version of the famous musical of yesteryear starring Judy Garland. The plot was somewhat simplified, but the best songs were kept in the production.

While waiting backstage for the performance to begin, the Times reporter was accosted by a six-year old girl who was playing a witch. "See that boy over there?" she asked. "The one who's a flying monkey. He wants to marry me."

"Oh. Do you think you'll marry him?" the reporter asked her.

"I don't know. I think I'll wait and see how much money he makes. Anyway, I already have a boyfriend—this boy here," she said, shaking a nearby munchkin for emphasis. The munchkin boy looked sheepish.

"That other boy's always putting his arms around me and squeezing," she went on, referring to the monkey boy, and making her face into a grimace of distaste.

"Don't you enjoy that?" asked the reporter.

"No! He always does it at lunch time when I'm full. It feels ikky!"

The girl also described how she had made her costume. She and the reporter had a pleasant chat until the show began.

Michelle Houck as Dorothy opened the show with "Somewhere Over the Rainbow." Soon after that she landed in Munchkin land, and was on her way down the Yellow Brick Road. The Wicked Witch was dispatched in short order. After a quick goodbye to the Lion, Tin Man, and Scarecrow, she returned to Kansas, and the entire cast came on stage for a bow.

Mrs. Linda Reischer accompanied the songs on piano. Mr. Konas made the scenery, and Mrs. Donna Wetzel supervised the costuming. Jeri Andes was narrator

The kids created the dialogue and staging themselves, and worked hard learning the musical selections: "Off to See the Wizard," "Merry Old Land of Oz," "Ding, Dong, the Witch is Dead," "If I Only had a Brain," and of course, "Over the Rainbow."

Miss Ettaro wishes to thank the parents who contributed their time and energy to the production.

Lindemuth joins physics association

Greg Lindemuth, a Don-egal High School student and Lancaster City-County Science Fair winner, became a student member of the American Association of Physics Teachers today during a program at the International Science and Engineering Fair in Cleveland.

Lindemuth and Cindy Emenheiser, another Don-egal High School student who was the county science fair champion, are representing the county at the annual exhibit and competition.

Lindemuth received his membership at the federal and professional awards program Friday morning, May 13.

More than 400 science fair finalist from 43 states, the District of Columbia, and foreign countries are competing.

Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Lindemuth, 100 Coffee Goss Road, Maytown.

Cindy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Emenheiser, 234 S. Market St., Mount Joy.

Accompanying them are Cindy's mother, Curtis B. Aspril, Jr., a Hempfield High School teacher who was chairman of the local fair, and Larry Baumann, personnel director of Lancaster Newspapers, Inc.

The students are sponsored by the Lancaster Newspapers. The local group will return Saturday.
