Sign language taught at DHS

DHS students learned some sign language last week. Some of the important sign-language words they learned were; "far out," "heavy," "I love you," "I hate you," and "Get a load of that chick."

The lessons were delivered by Sherry Albert, director of the Councelling Service for the Deaf. Sherry managed to make her lesson very entertaining, in spite of the rather dry subject matter. She came equipped with a tape recorder, which blasted rock songs at the student while their teacher danced out the words.

On Friday night, a mini-concert of music and sign language was held at Mount Joy Vo-tech. Then a volleyball marathon began. The marathon, sponsored by members of the VICA club at Vo-tech, lasted 24 hours and raised a lot of money for the Deaf Foundation.

Operator no longer needed for long-distance

United Telephone customers in Columbia, Marietta, Mount Joy and Mountville will soon be able to dial all long distance calls themselves—including ones that now require an operator.

According to United's David Ditenhafer, "During the last week in May we will be phasing in a new long distance access number for person-to-person, collect and credit card calls. Columbia, Marietta, Mount Joy and Mountville customers will be able to dial these special kinds of long distance calls themselves by first dialing the digit "0" (operator) and then the rest of the long distance number."

The timetable for the conversion will be: Columbia (684 numbers), May 23; Marietta (426) on May 25; Mount Joy (653), May 26; and Mountville (285) on May 27.

Ditenhafer said there will be no change in the dialing of station-to-station calls. Customers will continue to dial "1" and then the desired number.

Sherry Albert and VICA members say "I love you."

Carrot juice for breakfast?

While carrot juice has not yet replaced orange juice for breakfast, it has potential for doing so in the future, according to some recent research by USDA Agricultural Research Service scientists.

An estimated 20- to 24-thousand tons of carrots fail to meet market quality standards and are discarded each year in the South Texas area alone. Scientists were concerned about this great waste and sought a use for the discarded carrots.

They prepared beverages from combinations of carrot juice, carrot puree, whole orange puree, grapefruit and pineapple juices, lemon juice concentrate, sugar, citric and ascorbic acids, and artificial pineapple and orange flavors.

A taste panel consistently rated the carrot-orange puree plus pineapple juice as the beverage with the most desirable flavor. Plain carrot juice had the least desirable flavor.
