VFW burns mortgage

Caught by our camera in the act of burning the mortgage are, from the left, James B. Heilig, Martin S. Brown, Eric Olson, Leo Frank, and Paul Stark. Warren Foley, also scheduled to help the conflagration, was absent. Ham, snacks, beer, and dancing followed.

Last Sunday the Mount Joy V.F.W. burned its mortgage. They also had a party to celebrate the full ownership of their building on Longenecker Road east of town. They had been paying on it since 1962.

While the mortgage was burning, a 220-pound pig had been roasting on a spit since 3:00 a.m. that morning. Music was provided by the John Enck country and western band from Manheim.

Attending were 15 guests from the Coatsville Veterans' Hospital.

The festivities were held under the new pavillion, on which there is no mortgage.

The meeting was called to order by commander Martin S. Brown. Rev. Whitesel of St. Luke's Episcopal Church led a prayer. Then, following an address by 9th District commander Raymond C. Mullin, the paper was burned.
