

Girl Scouts camp in Sico Park Bugs, food, mud, noise, fun

"There were ants all over the place."

"Playing in the mud on the witch's hat was fun."

"The leaders kept telling us to be quiet."

"The best part was the food."

"The worst part was putting up the tents."

Those were some reactions of local girl scouts to their recent camping experience.

Girl Scouts of the Donegal Neighborhood, Penn Laurel Council, camped at Sico Park in Mount Joy on August 1st through 5th.

On the first day the girls formed units with strange names: Little Red Squirrels, Brownie Bugs, Funks Skunks, Earth Born Kids, Creative Cadettes, Trefoil and Super Doopers.

Besides crafts, folk dancing, and cookouts, which everyone did, the Brownies went to the Cove on a "hobo hike," and the juniors and cadettes attended a bike safety course led by officer Dale Good of the Mount Joy P.D.

Juniors and Cadettes went camping overnight in Krazy Kostumes, and Brownies learned about bugs and poison ivy from a County Parks ranger.

On Wednesday there was an art show, and on Thursday there were cookouts and water safety instruction. The final day was spent on swimming and a dragon egg hunt.

got Ceramics, Pottery, and Home Nurse badges. Hobo Day winners were Lisa Weaver, Angela Miller, and Sarah Harnish. Art show awards went to Lisa Ruhl, Gwenda Dunkelburger, Collette Cornwall, and Staci Stettler.

Those recognized for their role in the Crazy Day were Staci Stettler, Linda Wittel, Colleen Barr, Melissa Eberly, Sharon Nissley, Sarah Harnish, Lisa Shannon, Stacey Ricedorf, Betsy Marley, Karen Wittel, Jody Gray, Robin Gantz, and Stephanie Maxwell.

Camp Directors Nancy Kopf and Ella Gainer

Auditions being held for 'Honey Man'

Have you got talent? The Columbia Business and Professional Women's Club is looking for singers, dancers and actors to form the cast of "Honey Man," a new play by writer Roma Greth and composer Marion Weaver. Auditions will be held Aug. 14, from 1 to 5 PM at the Dancers' Workshop Studio, 220 E. King St., Lancaster. The play will be presented Oct. 20, 21, 22 & 23 at Park School auditorium, Columbia. Five male leads, three female leads, and a large chorus — all adult or teenaged — are needed.

DID YOU HEAR...

The Lancaster County Farm Restaurant, between Mount Joy and Elizabethtown on Route 230 bought the hog which won the reserve grand champ position at the Lancaster County FFA Market Hog Show held in July at the Lancaster Stockyards. The hog was owned by Robert Herr of Narvon.

Also, the Kauffman family of Elizabethtown won both the grand and the grand reserve champ positions at the Lancaster District Holstein Show in Quarryville. Robert Kauffman and "Andfar Astronaut Cinderella" took first place and Linda Kauffman and "Sunapee Astronaut Ruth" took second place at the show.
