Marietta Locksmith "Poopsie" Floyd recently was featured in the Lottery Line, the official publication of the Pennsylvania lottery. He got a whole page to himself.

The story, with generous sized photo, began by stating that Poopsie "could sell air conditioners to Eskimos," and mentioned the recent Times article on him and "his escapades in the key and lock business."

The Lottery Line story fairly raved about Poopsie's salesmanship in the Lottery business, and detailed some of his practices. One example: Poopsie offers free Instant Bingo tickets to those who can spell POOPSIE with their stubs.

Kids got to wear the firemen's hats when the Maytown Fire Co. visited the elementary schools last week. It was National Fire Prevention week, and the firemen gave the students some safety tips.

Candlelight tour at Slaymaker mansion

The historic Slaymaker mansion on Rte. 30, near Gap, was opened in the summer of 1976. The season ended with a series of candlelight tours. In the nine months it was open, it was visited by over 18,000 people.

To highlight the living history concept in 1977, the hostesses will play the roles of Slaymaker women who have occupied the home from the mid 1700's to the present. Visitors will also be introduced to General Lafayette, who will describe his visit in 1825.

Susan Slaymaker, attired in a "flapper" dress, will greet guests in the 1923 ballroom. She will represent her great aunt, the late Helen Slaymaker Rambo.

After refreshments, Mr. Slaymaker will be available to sign copies of his book.

Tours will be October 15 and 16; November 19 and 20; and December 17 and 18 from 7 to 9:30 PM. Admission: $2.00 for adults and $.75 for children.

Ecology day

On October 14th the Mountville elementary school teachers and kids will travel to Lancaster Central Park for "Ecology Day." The field trip will aim to acquaint the kids with some aspects of nature.

Schock Senior Center holds 2nd anniversary
