...Siberski fired

[continued from page 1] detail by Fran Pennock in last Saturday's Intelligencer Journal. The basic facts are that Siberski completed the work required to retain teaching certification, but he did not get official transcripts to Hallgren by the deadline. Whether the firing is legally justified is perhaps in question.

Informed sources say that behind the charges and counter-charges over the late transcripts lies a clash of personalities, most notably between Mr. Siberski and DHS Principal Donald Drenner. The two men have sharply differing styles.

THE TRANSCRIPTS

The official reason for Joe Siberski's firing is his lateness in furnishing official transcripts of his post-graduate courses, which he needed to keep teaching legally this year. There is no question that Mr. Siberski did indeed complete the necessary work in good standing at accredited schools, and he has produced a letter from the dean at one school stating that his transcript was being forwarded. For the other transcript, from Millersville State, he has a cancelled check which paid for the transcript, he claims.

Mr. Siberski took courses at a college in Colorado this summer. He had originally intended to go there but due to health problems, he says, he took the courses by mail, using instruction tapes and taking proctored exams here. According to Siberski, the Colorado college is accredited and considers its correspondence courses just as valid as its on-campus courses.

Siberski found out early this school year, however, that his credits from the Colorado school were not equivalent to Millersville

State credits, the type used as a standard for certification here; they are equal to a fraction of the local ones.

When he discovered this, Siberski got on the phone and explained his situation to the people out West. They agreed to give him the needed additional two credits for work already completed; namely, two plays Siberski had written and produced at the Ephrata playhouse. He mailed the scripts out, the school looked at them, and called him back saying that

RANDY DERR led the team in tackles (with 55) and fumble recoveries (11). BILL LAMBERT & TEET GOHN specialized in sacking enemy quarterbacks. Each managed to do it 6 times.

SCOTT MOWRER caught 14 passes for 224 yards, grabbed 11 interceptions, and rushed 340 yards on 60 carries.

Plenty of players who didn't make it to the top of the statistics column are among the most valuable players on the team. Victories are won in the trench warfare of opposing lines, but there is no record of exactly who contributed the most blocks when stars like Splain were carrying the ball. Outstanding athletes like Scott Jones, Keith Persun, Leonard Mummau, Scott Boylan, Jim Shrum. Bill Lambert Charles Rice and Frank Brommer deserve plenty of credit for the team record.

We are certain that we have overlooked several fine athletes in this list, because the statistics don't cover everyone's achievements. Tom Wber, for example, appears only once or twice in the stats... and he scored a touchdown.

Even the guys who almost never played were good; it was a great team.

...state investigation

If the investigators decide that Siberski's complaint was justified, the school district will be asked to reinstate him with full back pay. If they decide that any class of people is underrepresented on the Donegal faculty, the school will be asked to set up an "affirmative action" program to hire and promote the under-represented group.

If the district resists the idea, they will find themselves involved in a court battle against the state.

If the investigators decide that there is no illegal discrimination at Donegal, no action will be taken.

It is perfectly legal to discriminate against anyone because of his personality or inability to do the job. It is illegal to give unequal treatment to anyone because of race, sex, religion, national origin, age or handicap.

bers your child. I can vividly recall the announcement by our school officials the a "new" school would be built and the three towns of Mount Joy, Maytown, and Marietta and outlying districts would "consolidate" (a dreaded word to us) and become one school. OH, how we hated the idea! OH, how we cried as the Mount Joy High School Class of 1954 walked down those steps as the last class to graduate from Mount Joy High School. Some of us decided to take out our frustrations by sabotaging the building of our new school. We traveled out there one dark night and spilled paint, turned over boxes of nails, upset concrete blocks, etc. trying to slow down the building of that new school. Pathetic attempts compared to the bomb throwers in the big cities. Well, we didn't slow down progress and the new school was officially called DONEGAL (naturally, we thought it should be called Mount Joy, but failing that,
