Music from around world at St. Mark's

by Roger O. Colvin
Christmas Eve at St. Mark's United Methodist Church in Mount Joy will feature three choirs presenting music from Mexico, Scotland, Japan, Africa, Poland and American favorites. The service begins at 8:00 p.m. The Chancel Choir directed by Anna Mae Williamson will have as soloists, Eileen Martin, Judy Arnold, James End-slow, Carole Musser, and a flute solo by Ellen End-slow. The song, "Chanticleer" will include Dean Musser on the triangle and Ellen Endslow with the tambourine. Elizabeth Baley, directress of the Cherub and Celestial Choirs, will present special numbers of the "Drummer Boy," "Let There Be Peace," and "Babe in a Manger." The Celestial Choir will present "Japanese Christmas Carol," "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "Willie Bring Your Drum." An organ recital beginning at 7:45 p.m. will be given by the church organist, Darlene Sugarwala. The service will conclude with the Candlelighting. We invite the public to attend. The 11:00 p.m. service presents "The Angels Remember" and will be presented in word and sung by the youth. The program will be pantomimed and will include solos by Kim Roth, Linda Sherk, and Keith Gephart. Participants are Bonnie Wolgemuth, Allison Hawthorne, Beth Newcomer, Arlen Mummau, Craig Lehman, Philip Colvin, Scott Eshleman, Duane Musser, Kevin Roth, and Tim Keller. The service will also end with the candlelighting.

Christian Women's Club news

by Hazel Crankshaw
The January meeting of the Elizabethtown Christian Women's Club is planned for noon on Jan. 4 at Myer Dining Hall of Elizabethtown College. Officers for the coming year will be installed. Donald Yoder, director of Food Services at the college, will present new ideas for food for the new year. Music will be provided by a well-known trio comprised of Mrs. Marian Garber, Mrs. Miriam

Kauffman, and Robert Hiestand. Jack C. Sofield, head of Radiation Physics at the Reading Hospital and Medical Center will speak. Mr. Sofield is involved with the technical aspects of diagnostic and therapeutic radiology, serves as radiation safety officer for the hospital, and instructs radiology residents and technicians. His work involves the use of the latest in x-ray linear accelerators and computerized treatment planning in the treatment of cancer. His hobby of photography has led to numerous awards, and he is a popular speaker at summer conferences, youth meetings and seminars. Reservations for the luncheon must be made before Dec. 30; tickets ($4) will be on sale at the door. Nursery will be open at the Elizabethtown Church of God.

CPR course in Maytown

A free CPR course will be offered by the East Donegal Jaycees on January 16, 17, 18, and 19, from 7:00 to 10:00 PM each night. The course will be taught by Red Cross instructors in Maytown.

The sponsors need at least 25 people signed up to get the Red Cross instructors to come. If you are interested, call Bob Hoffines at 426-3871. Remember, it's free, and more importantly, it could save someone's life — most likely someone you know, if you ever need to use it. You've always put it off before, even though CPR is a good thing to know, right? Well, here's your chance to finally learn CPR. Do it.
