

Kraybill kids send tree money to Jordan

Kids at the Kraybill Mennonite School donated money to farmers in Jordan for olive trees last week. A total of $325 was sent, enough to buy 650 trees.

Olive trees are very useful plants, and mean a lot to poor farmers in the Middle East. The trees will be distributed through the Mennonite Central Committee.

The photo above shows the 3rd grade class of Mrs. Hollopeter at the school posing in front of the poster they made as part of the olive tree project.
