

The Mystery Photo

Best of 5 wins

The Mystery Photographer has decided that he's been making things too easy for you folks.

"I'm going to fool everyone this week," he cackled, whipping his gleaming Nikon from the dark recesses of his black cape. "Everyone," he repeated. "All of them. The whole bunch. We'll see if they're smarter than I am! I've got five mystery photos this week, and I'm going to make them guess every one. Otherwise, no prizes, hee, hee, har!"

The Mystery photographer was overruled by the Editor in Chief, who decided that it wasn't fair to make our readers guess all five answers correctly in order to win.

Thanks to the chief's sporting instincts, the winner will be whoever sends us a postcard with the most correct answers. In case of a tie, the card with the earliest postmark wins.

The prize is a free subscription to our monthly magazine. (We can't give free newspaper subscriptions due to postal regulations.)

William Heysek wins Mystery Photo contest

After our clue of last week many people hit in the right answer for the Mystery Photo contest: a horn. To be more precise, the photo was taken looking right into the bell of a trumpet.

We promised the prize to anyone who guessed close to the right answer, and the first card that came in, from Mr. William Heysek of Maytown, got it. Mr. Heysek said, "The object pictured is a curved section of a brass auto horn."

The drawing that went along with Mr. Heysek's guess implied that he thought the photo was of the outside of a horn, not the bell. But the key words, "brass horn," have won him the prize. His card was postmarked Jan. 12 PM, earlier than any other, and arrived in our mailbox a day before any other entry.

Most later entries stated correctly that the object is a trumpet, sousaphone, trombone, etc. Those guessing thusly were:

- Heidi Bednarzik
- Gwendolyn Kramer
- Joann Rice
- Mrs. Kenn LeFever
- Joseph A. Meszaros
- Arlene Houck
- Steve Houck

Paula Rice guessed a bike horn, which would also have won if it had arrived earlier.

Two wrong guesses came in: "the frame of either a mirror or a picture," Donald L. Simmons; and "The wheel on a train," Mrs. Clarence N. Weidman.

Thanks to all for your efforts, and congratulations to William Heysek.

157 Marheim St.
Mount Joy Pa.
17552

Susquehanna Times,
R.D.#1 Box 75-A,
Marietta Penna.
17547
Jan. 4, 1978

Dear Times,

I read your paper all the times. I would like to say what a great photographer you have! Since he or she loves to keep all us readers in suspense, I'm going to take a shot at guessing the mystery photo! I am sure it's the inside rim of a tire!

Sincerely,

Jon D. Horst

JON D. HORST

1 What is it?

2 What is it, and when did it fly here?

3 What is she looking at, and where is she?

4 Why (in general terms) is this man unhappy?

5 What does it do?

HINT 1; All the photos were taken in the Marietta-Maytown- E. Donegal-Mount Joy area within the past two months.

HINT 2; Not all the pictures are right side up.

Good luck!

Send answers to the Susquehanna Times,
Box 75A, RD 1, Marietta, 17547

Even though this guess was wrong, we thought the calligraphy was worth reproducing. [2/3 size.]