THE HOLLOW

Columbia Little Theater

production to be seen soon

The curtain is about to go up on the Columbia Little Theater's first production of 1978. The group will present Agatha Christie's mystery play, THE HOLLOW, February 2, 3, 4, at 8:00 p.m. and February 5 at 2:30 p.m., in the Park School Auditorium, 6th and Cherry Streets, Columbia.

Tickets are now on sale and can be purchased in advance from any cast member or from the Columbia Branch of the YMCA and at the door. Prices are $3.00 for adults, $2.00 for students and senior citizens and $1.00 for children under 12.

The play takes place at the English country home of Sir Henry Angkatell known as THE HOLLOW, located 18 miles from London. Sir Henry and his wife, Lady Angkatell have invited some family and friends over for the weekend. In attendance are young Doctor John Cristow and his dimwitted wife Gerda. Also present are two women who are in love with Cristow: Henrietta Angkatell, the sculptress, who is his present mistress; Veronica Craye, the film star, who was once his mistress. Veronica cleverly persuades John to spend the evening at her cottage--and very little persuading he needs. His indiscretion does not escape the notice of several people.

On the next morning, when John finally refuses to give up his wife and family to marry her she threatens him. Within five minutes John Cristow is a dead man--shot by an unseen hand. Was it Veronica? Was it his wife, Gerda, whom everybody thought was too stupid to have seen what was going on or shoot a gun? Was it the tense Henrietta, suddenly overcome by jealousy? Or Edward, who has felt all along that he might win Henrietta's favor if John were out of the way. Or the butler who was seen holding a gun? Or maybe Doris, the maid. That is what Inspector Colquhoun and Detective sergeant Penny have to discover.

The play is under the direction of Carmella Mackison, Sets & Lights designed by Duane Peters. The cast includes Pat Zercher, Gerald Hilt, Doris Smith, Linda Retallick, Bill Weinberg, Jim Frey, Mary Jayne Hilt, Mary Jane Demmie, Dave Lindt, Malissa Byers, Randy Roher and Duane Peters.
