Letters

To whom it may concern;
 I wish to notify you of the need for a correction concerning the article about Shelli Schwert winning the Donegal spelling bee.

Shelli is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie Schwert, 281 Marietta Ave., Mt. Joy. She is also the daughter of Mr. Robert Schwert, 82 Morning Glory Lane, Manheim.

I am Mrs. Robert Schwert and my husband and I live together in Manheim. Mr. Schwert's ex-wife lives in Mt. Joy. Your error has caused much embarrassment.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert Schwert

The Susquehanna Times is being used as an educational tool at Seiler School in Mount Joy. Mrs. Esther Kettering, the reading teacher at Seiler, is having one of her classes read it every week as an exercise.

No doubt the kids will read this article when it appears. It would hence behoove the Times to utilize a plethora of abstruse words with profligance, as a pedagogical act of philanthropy... though we would eschew obfuscation.

A letter from Mrs. Kettering is reprinted below:

Dear Friends;

Friends you have been! Thank you so much for your generous contribution of free Susquehanna Times issues for use in many special reading classes.

We have been doing many things with the issues—reading orally and silently; reading for comprehension; identifying headings, captions, paragraphs, articles of information, articles of influence, idioms, exaggerations, humor, generosity, bravery, and on and on.

We have compared prices and offerings of advertisements. One child and his father used a coupon and tried the food in one of the restaurant. We have found a wealth of resources for vocabulary study.

I have personally enjoyed the use of the paper immensely. I found it to be a stimulation reading adventure. At first we thought we would use it several weeks. But, the weeks have stretched into months. We have now decided to use it through the April and May. So, please continue sending it through the last week of May. As a personal thank you, I am enclosing a check of five dollars as a contribution towards expenses.

I called yesterday about the possibility of having a picture taken and published for the children using the paper. I believe this would be quite a rewarding experience for the children and hope you will find it worthy of time and space.

Sincerely,
 Mrs. Esther Kettering
