Posse Comitatus

[The times recently received this news release. We aren't sure what it is about, so we are printing it verbatim. —ed.]

POSSE COMITATUS United States Citizens for Constitutional Rights

As May 1 is Law Day, it is of interest that the first meeting of the Posse Comitatus (Latin for the Power or Force of the County)—generally known as a posse or a sheriff's posse—was held last Saturday in Lancaster.

One of the chief objectives of the Posse Comitatus is to guarantee the preservation of the Law of the United States Constitution for all citizens residing within a given county or parish in the United States.

The Posse Comitatus is the result of a growing movement throughout the nation of individuals co-operating with one another. Such groups or committees now exist in Bucks and Philadelphia Counties in Pennsylvania; one in New Jersey as well as in the states of Arizona, California, Colorado and as many as 500 county committees in Michigan.

The charter of the Posse Comitatus in Lancaster County is based on the authority of the Constitution of the Commonwealth and that of the United States, the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the Magna Carta and the Common Law. This charter is on file at the Lancaster County Court House, and a copy is also on file with the Sheriff.

The Posse Comitatus or Sheriff's Posse Comitatus advocates total co-operation with local courts, law enforcement officers and other officials provided that those various officials also uphold the statutes of law as detailed in the foregoing documents.

Those wishing further information may write Freedom 1776, RD1, Stevens, PA 17578; or call Lancaster 394-1567; Ephrata 733-6996 and Stevens 215/267-7944.

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right to keep an bear Arms, shall not be infringed. —2nd Amendment, United States Constitution.
