Donegal Society holds 65th reunion

The Donegal Society held its 65th annual reunion Thursday at the historic Donegal Presbyterian Church near Mount Joy.

Featured speakers were Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, former dean of Princeton Theological Seminary, and John H. Esperian, headmaster of the Linden Hall School for Girls, Lititz.

Dr. Homrighausen addressed the morning session at 11:30, which was presided over by Donegal Society Vice President Frank L. Snavelly. The

CBC youth head for great outdoors

The Congregational Bible Church in Marietta has a unique philosophy of youth ministry. They believe that they should minister to the "total young person" in an attempt to meet his social, emotional and spiritual needs. To do so they have developed an exciting summer program with Marietta youth involving two weeks of Vacation Bible School, two weeks of regular camp plus two months of sports and recreational activities, field trips, bike hikes, and various "Wilderness camping adventures" involving backpacking, canoeing, rock climbing and rappelling.

In order to staff such an ambitious summer community project, the Congregational Bible Church has hired Ron Miller, the former camping director for "Youth for Christ" in Lancaster County, full-time to work with Gary Newton, the Youth Pastor. Working under the leadership of these two men will be a full-time staff of eight young people from this area who have given up their prospects of good paying summer jobs to help with Marietta youth.

Each of these summer youth counselors will be responsible for developing a close relationship with various young people from town and planning activities with them. A sincere attempt will be made by these counselors to show love to the youth and to help them through their problems. Ron Miller will be directing the more adventuresome camping experiences with the youth.

invocation at the morning session was given by Dr. Victor Baer, pastor of Donegal. The Rev. Herbert Moyer, a former pastor, gave the benediction. Esperian addressed the afternoon session at 2:20. J. W. Heisey, president of the society, presided at the meeting. The Rev. John Wesley Anderson, of Bethany Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation, and the Rev. John W. Doane, of the First Presbyterian Church, gave the benediction.

Following the morning session the society held its traditional picnic luncheon in the Oak Grove, served by the women of the church. About 150 people attended.

The society held its business session at 1:30 PM, including the election of officers. Frank L. Snavelly was elected president for two years.

Abram H. Weidman was elected vice president. The following people were re-elected to offices in the society: Maurice N. Bailey, secretary-treasurer; Lt. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, solicitor; Sara F. Roberts, co-historian; Clyde L. Groff, co-historian.

In other business, the society discussed helping the congregation restore the church's exterior walls. The matter was referred to the society board for action within two months. Cost of the restoration was estimated at $7,000.

The Donegal Society is made up of persons descended from the original Scotch-Irish pioneers who founded the church in 1721 and persons interested in perpetuating the memory of Donegal.
