Marietta playground news

One hundred and fourteen children participated in the first two weeks of swimming, kickball, tennis, pool and other games at the Marietta playground.

To go to the "fun swim" each Tuesday morning, kids must provide a permission slip and 25 cents to the supervisors on Monday.

Arts and crafts projects are completed each week.

Winners of special events were:

hat show:

plainest—Frank Smith; fanciest—Grace Henderson; best pair—Dunaine Schaeffer and Becky Ben-singer; best sport hat—Butch Kenndy (runner-up was Tina Martin); funniest—Rodney Eshleman; best home made hat—Dale Shopf (runner-up was Sherry Noll); most patriotic—Dave Deitrick; cutest—Scott Squibbs (runner-up was Saville Kennedy); best sun hat—Lori Gross.

Thursday afternoon hobby show:

most decorative—Michelle Lavin (2d place winner—Andrea Waters; best hobby collection—Rhonda Fisher (2d place—Grace Henderson); most informative—Joy Wansley (2d place—Violet Rapp; cutest—Matthew Wise (2d place—Misley Turek; most original—Stacey Nein (2d place—Beth Lavin).

Teresa Lavin won the best of the show prize.

For the week of July 10, arts and crafts projects will include string designs and sewing cards. Gimp will also be featured. The Noc Hockey Tournament will continue. A cook-out will be held Wednesday. A pet show will be held Thursday afternoon. On Friday, a bubble gum contest and balloon battle will be staged.

All school-age kids are welcome to participate.

Dennis Red gets M.S.

Mr. Dennis J. Red, Sr., of 209 E. Market St., Marietta, was awarded an M. S. degree in environmental science and engineering from Drexel University recently.

Paul Holder retires

Paul C. Holder of 1381 Ironville Pike, Columbia, has recently completed a 42 year career with the United Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. A company retirement party will be held for him in mid-July.

Holder joined United's staff after graduating from Columbia High School. In 1936 he served as installer and repairman. In 1937 he was appointed central office repairman. In 1965 he was elevated to central office foreman and in 1971 was promoted to equipment supervisor.

He and his wife, the former Hazel M. Geistweit, have a daughter, Karen Sue.

He enjoys photography, gardening and wood-working as hobbies.

A. J. Sater, M. Bortner get B.A.s

Two Marietta men have graduated from Penn State at Middletown. Alex Joel Sater received a Master of Arts degree in American studies, and Michael Bortner got a Bachelor of Technology degree in electrical design engineering.

Bortner graduated with highest distinction.

A Mount Joy man, John R. Gray, also graduated with a Master of Administration degree.

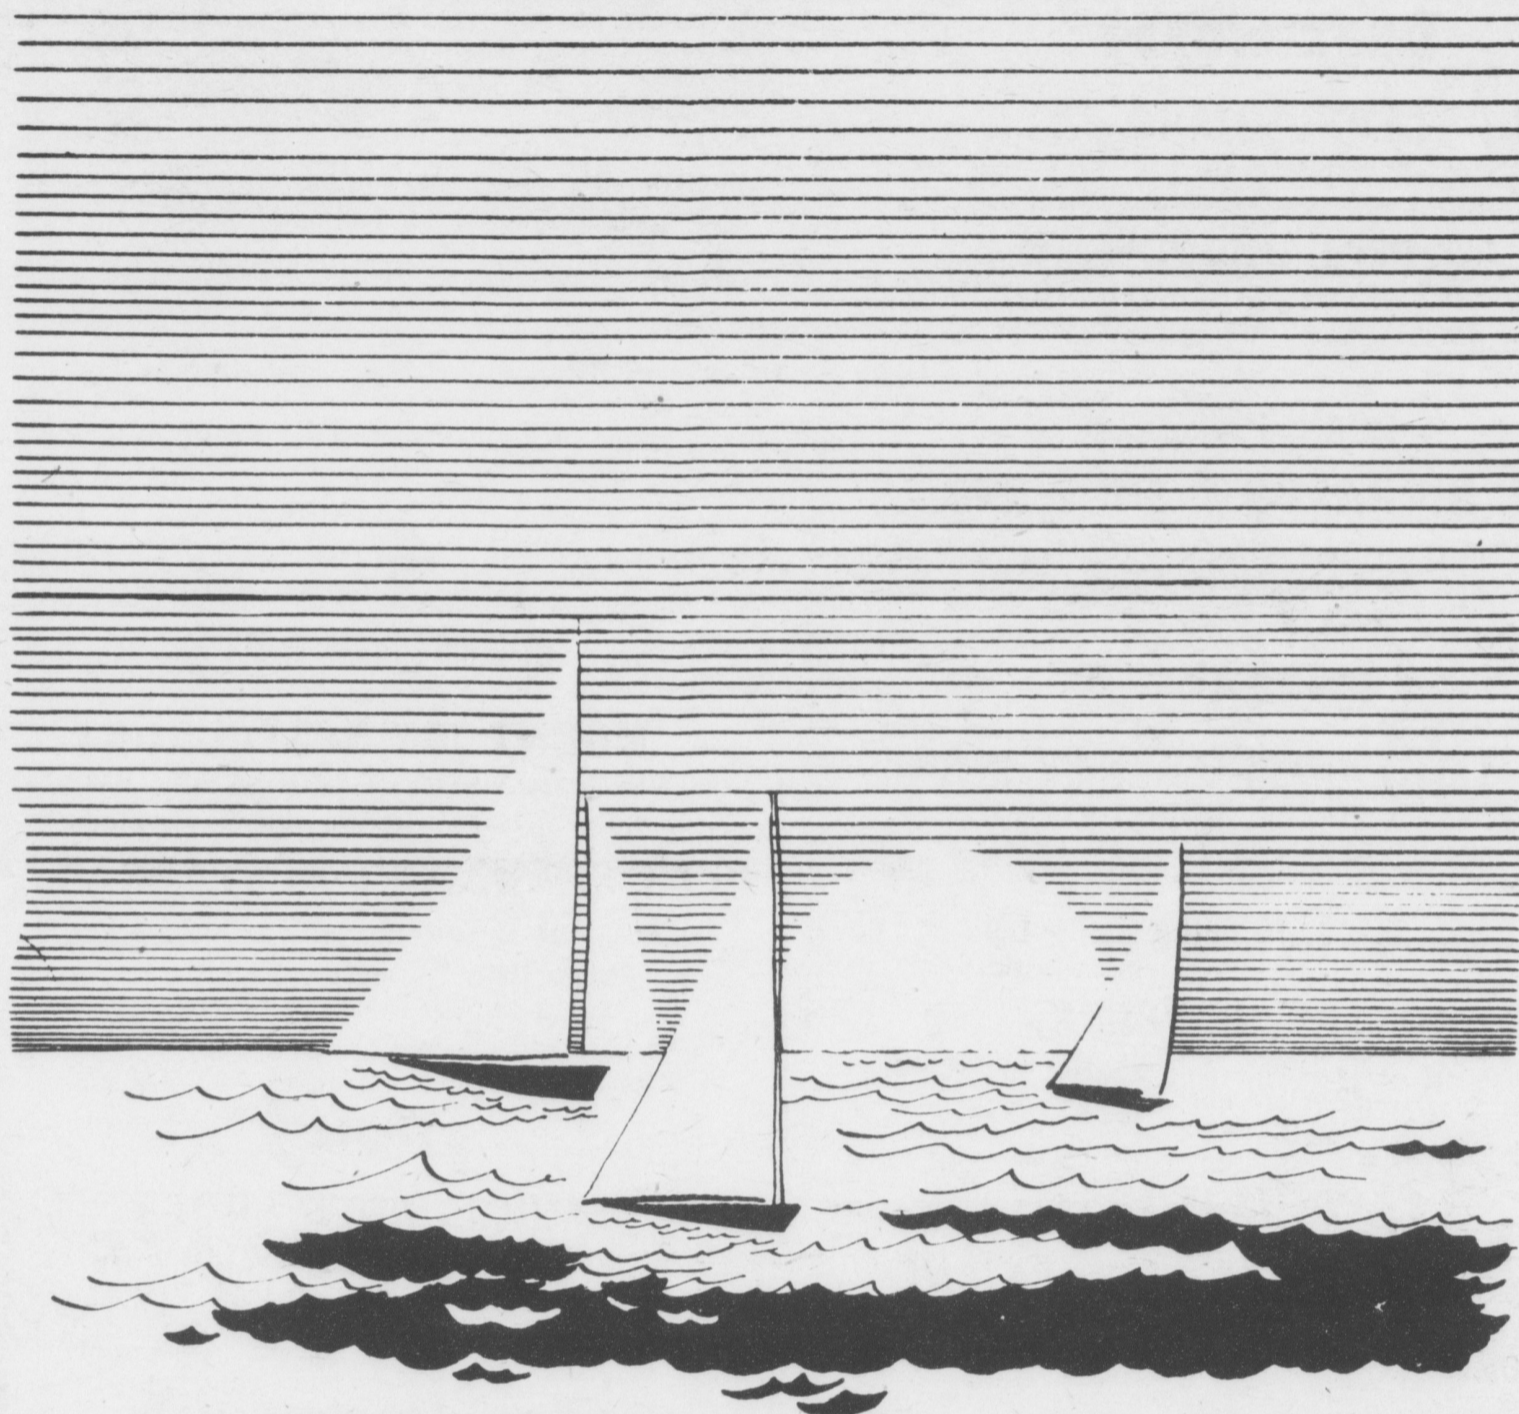

'The Pro' to be roasted

The 5th annual Corn Roast of "The Pro" (i.e., professor Ken Longsdorf) will be held on August 13th from 1:00 to 8:00 PM at the Mount Joy American Legion Post 185 off Rte. 283.

The cost is $6.00 now, $7.50 after August 1st. There will be volleyball, baseball, 8-row hybrid corn, franks, and beverages. The Pro says, "Let Joy Be Unconfined! Let's Make This One Our Best Ever!"

Tickets are on sale at the Heritage House in Mount Joy and at Barrel's in Park City.
