Birds of prey

A program on Pennsylvania's birds of prey will be held Saturday (August 5) at 8:30 PM at Pequea Creek Campground at Lake Aldred.

Mike Ondik, director of white-tailed deer research at Pennsylvania State University, will present the slide show and discussion titled "Hawk Country," Ben Moyer, seasonal naturalist at Lake Aldred, has announced.

"Ondik has devoted many years to observing, studying and photographing Pennsylvania's hawks, eagles and owls. His superb slide collection depicts nearly every aspect of the life histories of the state's birds of prey.

"The program includes some exceptionally fine shots of the birds' nesting and feeding activities," Moyer said.

There is no admission charge for the program which is open to the public. Those attending are advised to bring chairs or blankets for seating as the program will be held outdoors, Moyer said.

Pequea Creek Campground is located along Route 324 near the village of Pequea. The campground is part of the Lake Aldred recreation area operated by Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. in conjunction with its Holtwood hydroelectric generating plant.
