

If you're planning to buy an electrically heated home...

Energy-Efficient Homes Offer More

...Take windows and doors for instance. PP&L approved Energy Efficient Homes must have either double-pane insulated windows or storm windows as a minimum requirement. All exterior doors must be the "insulated" type or have storm doors installed.

Equally important, is what goes around window and door frames. Cracks must be tightly sealed against leaks. It's done by packing in strips of insulation or "foaming in" a urethane material that fills even the smallest crevices.

This is but one example of the quality design features you'll find in every Energy Efficient Home. There are dozens more... covering everything from wall and ceiling insulation down to the heating system and fireplace.

That's why, if you're thinking of a new electrically heated home, it'll pay you to look for one that qualifies for the Energy Efficient Home Award. It's your assurance that you'll be getting the most practical energy-saving features that money can buy.

In the event your builder is not familiar with the building requirements of an Energy Efficient home, call PP&L.

Ask for the residential consultant who can supply you with materials and equipment specifications and builder information.

School Board meets Zeller and Meckley resign; new roof; discipline meeting

The resignation of Miss Catherine Zeller, long-time Donegal Schools English teacher, was announced at last week's meeting of the Donegal School Board. She had taught for 24 years at DHS, and 12 years before that at Mount Joy High School. She never taught in any other district.

The board voted to send a letter and retirement bonus to Miss Zeller.

School Board member Thomas E. Meckley also announced his resignation. A CPA, Mr. Meckley has been promoted by his firm (Ernst and Ernst) to the position of partner, in charge of the Allentown office of the firm. He and his wife, Sandra, are both life-time residents of Mount Joy.

Meckley, who will not attend the next meeting, warned the board that they can expect problems in the future as different municipalities in the district decide to exempt, or decide not to exempt, certain people from taxes. Under a new law, a municipality can exempt those earning less than $3200 a year.

"This thing will become extremely complex," said Meckley. He said also that the computer card forms for tax collection would have to be replaced by less easily processed forms similar to state or federal income tax forms, due to the amount of information required. He also said that the law does little for those whom it was aimed at helping, namely, people on fixed incomes.

Thomas Meckley, who resigned from the School Board last week, told us: 'People say the School Board job is a hassle, but I've enjoyed every minute of it. It's been a rewarding experience—I hate to leave.'

In addition to Miss Zeller, Mrs. Christine Paules, math teacher at Beahm, resigned. Mr. Patrick Nadeau, high school custodian, also submitted a letter of resignation.

Nadeau, who has accepted a position with private industry at greater earnings, must be replaced, according to superintendent Hallgren. He described Mr. Nadeau as "a very good custodian."

Dr. Hartzler asked for volunteers from the board for the Open House to be held at the junior high and high schools.

These people were approved, on administration recommendation, as new teachers:

—Mrs. Elinore Ruhl, of Mount Joy, as DHS home economics teacher;

—Miss Kathy Sue Beck, of Lancaster, Beahm reading teacher. She plans to become Mrs. Woodbridge on October 1st;

—Miss Carol Ann Hoy, of Ashland RD, for a DHS English position.

Patricia Bateman, Larry Forrey, Joseph King, and Susan Schlosser received permanent contracts.

Mrs. Janice Rossi, Miss Sharon Zimmerman, Mrs. LaVon Harnish, and Miss Cheryl Cox were approved as full-time substitutes.
