Warner Cable gets PRISM

A contract signed this week with Warner Cable Corporation made Warner Cable of Marietta, Pa. the latest in a fast growing list of PRISM pay-television affiliates, and the first Warner owned system to join PRISM.

Planning a mid-October turn-on, the Marietta system is located in the western reaches of the PRISM market area between York and Lancaster and serves 4,500 homes.

Ron Amick, manager of Warner Cable of Marietta, expressed excitement with the signing, stating that the interest of the local residents would best be served with PRISM.

"Most people from this area see at least one baseball game in Philadelphia, even though we're an hour and a half away," explained Amick. "But very few get a chance to see the Flyers or the Sixers at the Spectrum because of the scarcity of tickets."

With PRISM, Marietta residents will not only see home action of each of the Flyers, 76ers and Phillies, but will also be treated to recent major motion pictures and a variety of Spectrum events including boxing and wrestling.

Some of the movies premiering on PRISM in August and September include "Oh God" with George Burns and John Denver, "Bobby Deerfield" with Al Pacino, "The Gauntlet" with Clint eastwood and "MacArthur" with Gregory Peck.

Recently, Walt Disney Productions agreed to release several of its box office hits to pay television, all of which will be carried on PRISM. The first of these films, "The Apple Dumpling Gang", starring Bill Bixby, Don Knotts and Tim Conway will debut in September.

"Not only is PRISM rich in family entertainment, but we also extend the cultural boundaries of Philadelphia far beyond its previous limitations," stated PRISM president, John Calvetti. "It will be our pleasure to serve the residents of Marietta, Pa., with the same enthusiasm as we do our subscribers in South Philadelphia."

PRISM, which pioneered the concept of combining feature films and entertainment specials with local professional sports into in pay-television package, now serves over 37,000 home in over 150 cities, towns, and communities in the Philadelphia area.
