

Artists/musicians/street singers to appear at Congregational Bible Church

Mickey and Becki Moore, youthful song writers, singers and recording artists from Uper Monclair, NJ, will present a concert at Congregational Bible Church, R. 441, Marietta, Saturday night, October 28, at 7:30 PM.

"The husband and wife team of Mickey and Becki have made it from street singing to LP's while relating how Jesus smoothed the bumps on their personal road." That's how ABC-TV described the ministry of Mickey and Becki Moore. There is, of course, much more to their story.

They were dramatically called into contemporary Jesus music ministry after working several years in New York City in the various music clubs and restaurants, such as the famous "Other End" in Greenwich Village. They were also popular street singers in the Village and on the Staten Island Ferry.

Mickey and Becki met and began singing at art school in their native Virginia. They both come from Christian homes and accepted the Lord into their lives when they were quite young. After they were married and received their degrees (Mickey's in graphic design and Becki's in fashion design), the Lord took them to Chicago, where Mickey became the art editor of His Magazine, published by Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, and Becki pursued her career in fashion design.

They soon became national award-winning designers, but also began to feel led into a full-time musical career. That is when they moved to New York.

Mickey and Becki are designers, night club singers, street singers, and song writers. Their second album has just been released, and was produced by Paul Stookey, formerly of Peter, Paul and Mary.

The concerts and albums are an excellent balance of spontaneous joy, humor and reverence. Their songs are original, poignant and relevant. Pat Boone says of the Moores: "I believe that you are heading in the right direction. I like what you have done already."

Author Margorie Young says, "Mickey and Becki serve the Lord through their music and their presence, combining humor, reverence, honest earthiness, and a humble, loving spirit. Their dress and their sets show a rich sense of beauty and glorify the giver of beautiful things and the ability to create and appreciate them."

Variety, the show business trade paper, gave this critique: "Becki's voice is a rich folk style, while Mickey's has a firm, almost romantic quality. The blend is good. Duo should be heard from more in the future."

There is no admission charge for their concert at the Marietta church.

Another good cover on United Tel's new directory

A child marveling at the intricate beauty of a spider web and a thought-provoking caption have made the new United Telephone directory for 1978-79, now being delivered, something of a conversation piece.

"The cover photo and accompanying caption have generated an unusual number of favorable comments throughout Pennsylvania and in other United Telephone System companies around the country," says John Nobile, United's Columbia service manager. "In answer to a very common question," he adds, "—the child in the photo is a boy."

Last year's cover was also a very good one.

Over 20,000 customers will get a copy of the new directory, called "The Phone Book." If you don't get one by early November, call or stop by United Tel's business office.

The new book is easier to read because it has 4 columns per page instead of 5, as in last year's.

Popular features have been retained, and some new ones have been added; such as additional space for frequently-called and emergency numbers, a calendar, and zip code information.

About 25% of the numbers in The Phone Book change each year.

Farm Women tour Goodwill Industries

Farm Women's Society #8 enjoyed a luncheon at the Stockyard Inn October 19 at 12 o'clock noon. The group was made up of eighteen members and two visitors. From there they went to the Goodwill Industries to take in a planned tour there. Miss Joyce Burkholder was their guide and gave a comprehensive, detailed interpretation of the work. Mentally and physically handicapped are trained in three areas of work there. Finally they are taught to be self-supporting. The visitors spent about one hour observing individuals working at various crafts. Kathryn Heisey, the Society President, was in charge of the business meeting held in a part of the building.

Four members sewed at the General Hospital on October 5; Agnes Houseal, Margaret Heisey, Hettie Ginder and Pauline Miller. 41 aprons were made.

A special Homemaker's Program will be held at the Landis Valley Resort Inn, October 23, at 6:30 PM. Admission is free.

Treasurer Elizabeth Shuman was remembered with a sympathy bouquet at the time of her bereavement following the death of her husband.

November 4 is the day for the County Convention.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Ruth Drager, Marietta R#1, November 18 at 2 PM. The speaker will be Dr. Carl Frey, from Norlanco.

The Christmas Party for members and husbands will be held December 3 at the home of Vera Frey, Marietta R#1, at 6:30 PM. Each one is asked to bring a covered dish and donate one dollar toward the turkey to be prepared for the occasion.
