Thanksgiving party

Last week kids in the Head Start Program at Congregational Bible Church on Rte. 441 near Marietta had a Thanksgiving party, complete with Pilgrim and Indian hats made of paper. Parents came, bearing side dishes for the main course of the dinner, a 25 lb. turkey donated by Weaver's. Earlier, the kids made "hand turkeys" [drawing around their outstretched fingers to outline a turkey].

Marietta Ambulance elects Englert, plans to buy radio

Steve Englert was re-elected crew chief of the Marietta Area Ambulance Association, Inc., at the annual meeting. Steve Bailey was elected assistant crew chief, and Claudia Sload was named the treasurer. Nancy Herneisen was elected treasurer.

John Williams, Brian Brandt, Robert Crossan, and Deborah Walsh were approved as new members, on recommendation.

Twenty-two ambulance calls were reported for the month of September. Five of those were stand-by calls. Thirty-two were reported for October, of which two were stand-by and six were no-trip calls.

Mr. Englert reported that he has signed an agreement for the purchase of a new radio. The trade in might bring back 50% of the cost.

Letter to Editor

[To the editor]:

We wish to express our gratitude for your assistance in publicizing our recent children's production, "The Lion Who Wouldn't." Due to your support, this show was a complete success. We hope that you will continue to help us in our goal to bring theatre to our community.

Again, thank you for all you have done for us. It is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
 Stephanie E. Weinberg

Turkey bagged on 1st trip

Posing with their turkeys are Al Alleman, Kevin Hiestand, and John Long.

Five local men bagged Thanksgiving turkeys on a recent hunting expedition. They were Al Alleman, John Loney, Dave Gerber, Hiestand, his son, Kevin, 14 years old, had never been turkey hunting before, but got a bird just the same. The Hiestands live in Maytown.

Also along on the trip were Eugene Walmer and his son Kevin, and Charles Detrick and his son, Brian.

They all went to Paul Garber's Ponderosa in —appropriately enough— Huntingdon County.
