Farm women learn to bake ornaments

Mrs. Jay Barnhart, Detwiler Street, Mount Joy, was guest speaker for our Farm Women, Society #8, at the home of Mrs. George Houseal, Marietta, on Saturday. She presented a demonstration of "Bread Art".

Mrs. Barnhart, who is an avid craftswoman, used Spruance old-fashioned bread mix and water as the basic ingredients. The fun craft is especially handy at Christmas time since wreaths, baskets, ornamental bread loaves and buns can be used as home accessories or for gift giving.

From the two pounds of "mix" can be made a basket, two small loaves of bread, and nine buns or three wreaths. The wreaths can be used all year round since the Christmas trimming can make way for spring flowers, fall wheat, or summer adornments. After the 3 cups of warm water is added to the mix; stir the flour with the hands until it is moistened thoroughly, place in a well greased bowl; cover with a cloth, and let rise in a warm place for about one hour.

To construct a basket: Break a section of the dough and begin to roll it between the hands to the thickness of a finger. Over a baking dish propped on a crisco can arrange the 13 spokes in a lattice fashion so ends can be anchored through each other to form a basket weave. Brush lightly with beaten egg whites and place in oven let dry about a week. Baskets can be varnished although it isn't necessary.

For a wreath: Prepare the dough as above and braid over a soup plate. The spokes should be about 40" long to make a foot wide wreath. After the product is baked and dried for a week it may be varnished and sesame seeds sprinkled over it lightly. Adorn with a colored velvet ribbon and sprigs of holly for a rustic, mouth watering christmas decoration. The buns are prepared in the same fashion but twisted as a pretzel and baked.

Napkin rings are another product made from the same recipe.

Mrs. Barnhart has a flair for home arrangements as her home is bursting with her many hand made objects.

Mrs. Barnhart is busy as a member of several committees in Church of God, Mount Joy, and has recently retired from managing the cafeteria of Seiler Elementary School. She is the mother of two sons: Doctor Jay and Barry Barnhart who maintain a clinic in North East, Maryland. She has five grandchildren for whom she sews and knits. Last but not least she enjoys the company of her husband Jay, with whom she travels constantly.

Mrs. Lewis Bixler opened the business meeting: Miss Anna Mae Eby led the devotions and the current president handed the gavel to incoming president, Mrs. Warren Heisey. Mrs. William Heisey was co-hostess.
