Mrs. Anna Houseal of Maytown was the lucky winner of the handmade quilt chanced off at the Maytown Flea Market by the ladies of the United Church of Christ. Good luck seems to run in the Houseal family: Anna's daughter, Louise Houseal Baker of Maytown, recently won a trip to South America during Watt & Shand's anniversary sale.

Kristen Straub

Kristen Straub may be Miss Teenager

Kristen Straub of Mount Joy will compete in the Miss National Teenager contest in Williamsport on June 1-3. About 100 other girls will compete for the 4-year scholarship and Barbizon modelling course.

Kristen will be judged on the basis on an interview with the judges, a short speech on "What's Right With America," and a group dance routine. She's looking forward to the competition.

Unlike most pageants, the Miss Teenager contest does not give its winner a blank check for education: only one college can be attended to get the full scholarship.

Kristen, who has already been accepted at Penn State, told us she is participating mostly "for the experience." She is planning a career in medicine, though she isn't sure yet in just what job she hopes to end up.

"I really like helping people," she says. Kristen has been working at Hershey Medical Center under the CEP program at Donegal.

Frey and Endslo picked for Rotary camp

Two Donegal High School students have been named to participate in the annual Rotary Leadership Camp for Girls at Dickinson College on June 17, 18 and 19.

The girls are Connie Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Frey, and Julie Endslo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Endslo. Both live at Marietta RD1.

The selections were announced by Lester Eshelman, president of the Mount Joy Rotary Club.

The Rotary has sponsored a similar event for boys for many years. Girls were sponsored for the first time last year.

About 100 girls from seven nearby counties will participate in the program, which consists of lectures, seminars and athletic competition.

Sandra Lehman, instructor of physical education at Dickinson College, will direct the camp. She is a volleyball, basketball and lacrosse coach.

The Mount Joy Rotary's Community Service Youth Committee is chaired by R.F. Hallgren.

Curtis Palmer wins 2nd place in airplane contest

On the 20th of May, Curtis Palmer of Marietta entered a model airplane competition at Anacosta Naval Air Station in Washington.

Flying his plane in the precision aerobatics class, Curt, a junior member, led all senior members by 10 points after the first round. By the last round he trailed first place by nine points (235-243) but the 2nd place trophy looked pretty good to him.

Curtis is a member of the Academy of Aeronautics (A.M.A.) and the Precision Aerobatics Model Pilots Association (P.A.M.P.A.) and competes in several states.
