Guest minister has preached to 80 nationalities at once

by Ron Steinmetz

A minister whose congregation in a church near the United Nations included persons from 80 countries, the Rev. J. Carter Swaim, will preach at Donegal Presbyterian Church on Sunday, August 19, at the 9:00 AM service.

Dr. Swaim served the Church of the Covenant, a United Presbyterian Church in New York, from 1964 until his retirement in 1970. Prior to that assignment, he was for ten years executive director of the Department of the Bible of the National Council of Churches in the U.S.A. He remains a member of the Standard Bible Committee.

As preacher and teacher, he served in churches, schools and other capacities in England, Scotland and several nations of Africa after graduation from Washington and Jefferson College. He has been widely published. Mrs. Swaim, a graduate of Wilson College with a master's degree from Columbia, was a teacher in the nursery school at Riverside Church and served as an interpreter for many French-speaking women in the United Nations community.

After retiring, Dr. Swaim and his wife served as volunteers for the Presbyterian Church of East Africa in 1970-71. More recently he has lectured to pastors, supplied pulpits, and served summer ministries in British Columbia, Long Island and Pennsylvania. He fills the Donegal pulpit in the absence of Dr. Victor Baer, the regular minister, who is on vacation. Assisting in the pulpit will be Ruling Elder Margaret Heisey.

H. W. Norton to speak at Congregational Bible Church

Dr. H. Wilbert Norton, dean of the Wheaton Graduate School, will speak at the Christian Service Congress at the Congregational Bible Church, Rte. 441, Marietta by-pass, on Wednesday through Sunday, August 15-19, at 7:00 PM nightly.

Dr. Norton holds the degrees of B.A., M.A., Th.M., and Th.D., and has taken post-doctoral studies and two universities.

Former president of Trinity College and Evangelical Divinity School, he established and chaired the Missions Department there and also was dean of men and dean of education. He served ten years in Zaire, where he was the legal representative of the Evangelical Free Church of America mission, directed the Bible Institute of Ubangi, and developed the mission's educational program. He is the author of numerous works.

Other speakers at the fourth annual Congress will be: Clyde Hiestand of Tunis, Tunisia, representing the North Africa Mission; Chester Martin of Winona Lake, Ind., representing the Spanish World Gospel Mission; James Metzler of Waxhaw, N.C., representing the Jungle Aviation and Radio Service; Walter Glasscock of Letts, Iowa, representing the Rural Home Missionary Association; Iain Crichton of Villanova, Pa., representing the American Missionary Fellowship; Gary Aumen of Portland, Ore., a candidate with the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society for a position in Hong Kong; and Edwin Brainerd of Lancaster, representing Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

All Congress sessions will include slides of missionary work and small group discussions with missionaries. Meetings are open to interested persons from all area churches.
