Two Mt. Joy residents, Romyne Bridgett and Gary W. Graybill will be judges for the Lancaster County Junior Miss Pageant to be held Saturday evening at Hempfield, September 15th.

Romyne is very well known throughout the area for her singing career. Recently a story of her full and active life appeared in the Susquehanna Times. We have all enjoyed reading about her illustrious career through the years.

Gary is also well-known for his interest in beauty pageants. It was Gary who organized the Miss Donegal Area Pageant, formerly the Miss Mount Joy Pageant. Only contestants from Mount Joy were eligible before Gary re-organized it.

Now, due to Gary's fine efforts all eligible students and graduates from Donegal High School and elsewhere living in the Marietta, Maytown and Mount Joy areas are able to enter the Donegal Area Pageant and vie for scholarships to further their education. Gary is also assistant producer of the Lancaster County Scholarship Pageant.

Meckleys get some visitors

On Saturday, September 8th, a group of folks from Mount Joy ventured to Allentown to visit the Thomas Meckley family. Tom and Sandy Meckley are former residents of Mount Joy.

After the John Fry family, the Paul Smith family, and the Ben Dillow family arrived at the Meckleys', the guests were treated to a front yard seat parade with fire trucks too numerous to count. Although everyone knew and understood that this was not anything the Meckleys had control over, it just went to show the kind of outstanding hospitality that one could expect from a long-standing Mount Joy resident now living in Allentown.

Friends may be interested to hear that J.J. Meckley is now in the second grade and Betsy is recovering from a broken arm.

Children in Sunday School were asked to draw a picture around Christmas time of "Silent Night."

One little boy drew a picture of Mary, Joseph, and the Baby Jesus, but there was a strange-looking little fat man in one corner of the picture.

"Who's that?" the teacher asked the boy.

"Oh, that's 'Round John Virgin," the boy said, brightly.

A little girl was painstakingly writing out all the letters of the alphabet. Suddenly, she had a problem. "How do you write 'elemento'?" she asked her mother.

"What?" said her mother.

"Elemento," said the girl. "You know, the letter that comes after 'K'."
