

Scott-White Singers

The Scott-White Singers, one of the largest singing families in the North, will be in full concert Sunday, September 23rd, at 7:30 PM. The sixty-member group will appear at the English United Presbyterian Church, Marietta.

The concert is sponsored by the Missionary Society of Bethel A.M.E. Church, Marietta.

The whole family sings, seven play the piano, eight are preachers, six are missionaries, and one is a minister of music.

The entire community is welcome to come and hear the Scott-White Singers.

There will be a free-will offering.

$48,000 federal money in East Donegal Park

The East Donegal Supervisors read a detailed report on construction progress at Rock Point Park last Thursday night.

The report covered the pavilion, kitchen, tennis courts, lighting, rest rooms, drinking fountain and playground equipment.

John Leas, president of the Park Commission, told the supervisors that the federally-funded project is near completion. $48,000 of federal money covered most of the cost of construction.

The tennis courts still don't have fences, and lights for the courts have not been installed. Leas indicated that these courts may get lights in the future, depending on "what happens at the Legion Park, where there are lights."

Other members of the Park Commission are: Herbert Shelly, vice president; Doug Brown, secretary; Jim Embly, treasurer; John Winters; Jack Garner; and Jim Myers.

In other business, the Maytown Fire Company was granted permission to use the grounds for hayrides during the weekend carnival. The firemen reported that they are making good progress painting the inside of the fire hall.

It was reported that the fire company responded to 8 emergency calls in August, and that the ambulance responded to 22 calls.

Hiestand, member of the board of Farmers First and chairman of Marietta Regional Board; Robert S. Bolinger, president; Jay R. Reich, member FFB Marietta Regional Board; and John P. Hohenadel, member FFB Marietta Regional Board.

Farmers First breaks ground for branch bank on Oremine Road and Route 441 near Marietta

Ground was broken by officials of Farmers First Bank for the 13th branch bank in Lancaster County at Oremine Road and Route 441, Marietta, Monday afternoon.

The drive-in will feature two windows, with a possible third, in the near future, and a 24-hour teller machine, which enables a customer to check his balance, deposit, make withdrawals, or loans, pay utility bills, Christmas or vacation clubs, or transfer funds.

Attending the ceremonies was Robert Bollinger, Farmers First Bank President, who with the Regional Bank President, John S. Hiestand, turned the first spade of earth.

Also present were Amy Fields, Lancaster, contractor, David Lynch, architect, Lloyd Myers, manager of the Marietta branch and assistant vice-president, James H. Shreiner, senior vice-president and cashier, Galen E. Witmer, vice-president, and regional directors John P. Hohenadel, J. and J. Richard Reich.

Member Robert Spangler was not present.

The office is scheduled to be opened in about 4 months.

Farmers First Bank, Marietta, is the oldest bank in Lancaster County, 3rd in Pennsylvania, and 25th in the nation. Known as the First National Bank, it was opened in 1863. Abraham Lincoln's signature is on the charter.

The current building was erected in 1875. The capital at the time of its establishment was $60,000.

Amos Bowman was its first cashier with a salary of $88 per year.

The first board of directors was John Hollinger, president, James Mehaffey, v.-p., Barr Spangler, secretary, plus John Halde-man, John Musser, Abraham H. Musselman, J.E. Kraybill, B.F. Hiestand, and S.F. Engle.

First National merged with Exchange Bank in 1960.

A unique feature of the current bank is its round vault.
