Commander Lavin late returning from oil slick to local zoning meeting

[continued from front page] was three hours later than he had expected in getting home. He never made it to the zoning meeting.

The Lavins were married during his four years of active duty. During a cruise of the Mediterranean, Claire and their daughter Theresa travelled from port to port around the Mediterranean, and would meet Lavin's ship when it came. In this way, Claire got to see a great deal of the Mediterranean countries. She liked Greece best of all, but Lavin preferred Spain, partly because he speaks Spanish.

In the course of his Naval career he has, by remote control, piloted other planes thirty miles away, from his own plane. He tracked the position of the distant plane he was piloting from blips on a radar screen.

Commander Lavin was well trained for operating sophisticated electronic equipment; he holds a B.S. in electronic engineering from Penn State and an M.S. in business administration from Penn State Capitol Campus.

Among his naval colleagues he has earned the name "Magellan" for his navigational skills. Because of his crafts business, which includes the sale and use of yarns and cords for macrame, he is also called "The Maharajah of Macrame."

A memento of his survey of the largest oil slick in history, is a small jar of water from the Gulf and several dark brown blobs of gunk containing sand and salt as well as very crude oil.

He cannot explain the recent lack of further news about the slick. He thinks that recent negotiations between the U.S. and Mexico, to get newly discovered oil and gas from Mexico, might explain the lack of bad publicity about Mexican oil. He doesn't know.

Lay Witness Mission, Sept. 28-30, at Glossbrenner United Methodist

30 lay witnesses from 4 states will lead a Lay Witness Mission at Glossbrenner United Methodist Church, Mount Joy, on September 28-30. Under the coordination of Boyd Gartley of Cochranville the witnesses will share their testimonies through small groups, singing, luncheon sessions and prayer.

A pre-mission Prayer Vigil will be held from 5:00 PM, Sept. 27, until 6:00 PM, Sept. 28.

General sessions for everyone will be held Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 PM. Coffee groups will meet in 8 homes on Saturday morning. A noon luncheon at the church on Saturday will be followed by men's and women's sharing sessions. The guest witnesses will share in the Sunday morning worship and church school services. A closing farewell luncheon on Sunday noon, followed by a sharing and evaluation session, will conclude the weekend schedule.

Special activities for children and youth will also be part of the Mission.

Park Shetter and Jacob Stehman are co-chairmen of the planning committee.

Rally Day

Rally Day will be observed at Zion Lutheran Church near Marietta on Sunday, Sept. 30th, at 9:30 AM.

The program will be presented by the youths of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Bainbridge. Music, a skit, and a puppet show will be presented, and there will be a sing-along.
