

Plague of errors strikes DHS in game last week

A plague of errors crippled Donegal's offense last weekend, allowing perennial loser Lebanon Catholic to come within a point of beating a basically superior Indian football team.

Lebanon Catholic, showing its usual bad form, fumbled the kickoff—but the Indians, who recovered, fumbled the ball right back, two plays later. Lebanon Catholic fumbled again. Then Donegal fumbled.

All told, Donegal fumbled 8 times, and Lebanon Catholic fumbled 5 times. The game was also marred by interceptions, misplays in the backfield, dropped passes, etcetera.

The comedy of fumbles skewed the relationship between the statistics and the scoreboard. Donegal consistently outplayed their opponents, tallying 14 first downs to Lebanon Catholic's 8, and 223 rushing yards to their 26. However, the Lebanon Catholic team, on a couple of big pass plays, managed to score a touchdown in the first period.

Although they failed to make the conversion, Lebanon Catholic suddenly led 6-0. It was the first time this year that Lebanon Catholic had led against any opponent, and the happy underdogs began playing the best football of their careers.

Mistakes continued to plague the Indian offense. Frank Brommer, Donegal's star wide receiver, dropped a pass in the end zone, spoiling a 2nd-quarter opportunity to even the score. It wasn't until the 4th period that the Indians put together their first scoring drive, which ended when Leonard Mummau plunged across the goal line from 3 yards out.

Brommer then redeemed himself by booting the game-winning point after touchdown, and the Indians left the field with a less-than-spectacular 7-6 victory.

One bright spot was the Donegal defense, which played consistently and well. Led by Darin Kolp, who made 5 tackles and 8 assists, the defense shut down Lebanon Catholic's running game almost completely. Leonard Mummau, who made 3 tackles and 4 assists, and broke up two pass plays by sacking enemy quarterback Steve Fortna, was another defensive leader.

Mummau also sparked the offense with 104 rushing yards (on 18 carries). Steve Meszaros, who tallied 84 yards in 16 carries, was another offensive sparkplug.

Despite some outstanding individual efforts, the Indians clearly suffered from the effects of an overall jinx. The fans did not see the sort of football which Donegal usually plays, as Cocalico will probably discover, to their dismay, when they challenge the Indians at next week's homecoming game.

The game is expected to be a hard-fought, exciting contest. And, if their play reflects their ability, the Indians are expected to win, by a slim margin.
