Kindergarten class at Riverview Elementary learning about Thanksgiving, prepare dinner

The Riverview Kindergarten class has been finding out many new things about the Thanksgiving holiday. They found out that people all over America give thanks for their blessings and remember the courage and strength of the Pilgrims. They also talked about the many things needed to make a huge Thanksgiving dinner.

The kindergarten class, taught by Mary Sheetz, along with Deborah Zeisloft's Lancaster-Lebanon IU #13 Adjustment class decided to get together and prepare a Thanksgiving dinner. The students helped to make gravy, stuffing, cranberry relish, carrots and celery, cranberry muffins and fruit salad for dessert.

After preparing all of the food needed for the feast, the students set the table, made their hats and created turkeys from apples.

The all sat down to a meal similar to the one enjoyed by the Pilgrims and Indians many years ago. They all held hands and gave thanks. Each child mentioned something that he or she was thankful for.

A special thanks to Mrs. Hildebrand, Miss Close, Miss Geissman, and the cafeteria ladies of Riverview for their help. This was a feast we will all remember.
