Donegal students hear ex-convict, boys' counsellor, tell about prison

Students at Donegal High School had the chance to listen to a former convict this past Thursday. Burns McKinney, an "ex-con" who became a counselor for the Lancaster City Boys Club, told of his experiences in prison, and gave the students the opportunity to ask questions.

Captain Luther Henry of the Lancaster Police Department (Juvenile Division) began the discussion, open to sociology students as well as any interested student.

Captain Henry gave some statistics on crime. Students were told that Lancaster County is the seventh safest county in the nation. He also pointed out that 51% of all felonies are committed by juvenile offenders.

McKinney began his talk by describing his background. Both he and Burns were born and raised in the 7th Ward. They had similar family situations, and both took to the street. Captain Henry, "through the Grace of God," did not get caught and went straight.

McKinney, who was not so lucky, spent 14 years in juvenile and adult institutions of correction. He was arrested for the first time at the age of nine when he set fire to a candy store and was sent to a home for juveniles.

McKinney told the students that much of his

"learning" went on within the institutions. A prisoner convicted of small-time burglary will learn armed robbery while in jail. This process continues until a man is so hardened that he can commit murder without feeling guilt.

McKinney described prison life for the students, trying to instill a true understanding of the consequences of a life of crime. There are four classes of inmate status, ranking from 4th (no freedoms) to first class (limited freedoms).

The worst position to be in is solitary confinement, known by prisoners as "the hole." Some "holes" have dirt floors and walls and no light. The prisoner is served only one meal a day, and bugs and rats are common. Burns spent six months in "the hole."

McKinney went on to describe frequent homosexual behavior within the institution, the murders and the self-made weapons.

Survival in prison depends on acting tough in order to avoid "being taken advantage of." Inmates would purposely scar themselves in order to look tough.

For the students listening the statements made by McKinney had to be a bit frightening. They listened attentively and responded with questions after the discussion. One student asked McKinney and Henry how she could go about getting involved with juvenile work.

Hinkle's Pharmacy, host to diabetes clinic

Hinkle's Pharmacy in Columbia will host a diabetes detection clinic on Friday, Nov. 23rd from 7:00 to 9:00pm, and on Saturday, Nov. 24th, from 9:30 to 11:30am.

This clinic is planned in conjunction with the Lancaster County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

Hinkle's Pharmacy is located at 3rd and Locust Streets, in the center of downtown Columbia.

If you plan to be screened, it's a good idea to follow one of the two meal plans listed below, and to make sure that you last eat at least two hours before you are tested.

Breakfast

1. Large glass (6-8 oz.) sweetened orange juice or other fruit juice OR one-half grapefruit with at least 2 teaspoons of sugar;

2. Three or more medium or large hot cakes with one-fourth cup (2 oz.) syrup or honey OR one cup cooked or 1 oz. dry prepared cereal with cream and 2 teaspoons sugar and 1 slice of toast with 2 teaspoons jelly, jam or honey.

3. Plus choice of: coffee, tea or cocoa with 2 teaspoons sugar OR one-half pint milk. Cream and butter as desired.

Lunch
