The Nutcracker, ballet in Columbia, on Dec. 1

The Columbia School of Ballet, under the direction of Sylvia Powell, will present The Nutcracker on Saturday, Dec. 1st, at 8:00pm, and on Sunday, Dec. 2nd, at 2:00pm, at the Columbia High School Auditorium.

Tickets can be purchased at the door or from any member of the Ballet School.

The Nutcracker is a delightful ballet with music by Tchaikovsky. It is traditionally presented in December, because it was first performed on Dec. 17, 1892.

This will be the third Christmas-time performance of The Nutcracker by the Columbia School of Ballet.

The ballet starts with a Christmas tree trimming. The father brings in some mechanical toys which he gives to Clara, the family's little girl.

Jacque McCurdy in the Joycee-ette fashion show

Clara goes to sleep and dreams that the toys have come to life. On of them, the Nutcracker, engages the King of Mice in hand-to-hand combat, and slays him with Clara's help.

The Nutcracker suddenly becomes a handsome prince who takes Clara to the Kingdom of Sweets, where they meet the Snow Queen and the Sugar Plum Fairy.

The lovers depart in a walnut-shell boat.
