looking forward to gardening. "That's one thing we could never do enough of around here because of the two jobs," says Elizabeth. In Florida I am going to have an orange tree, a grapefruit tree and a bottle brush tree. We're have two large oaks and many smaller trees. We are also planning on raising many exotic plants that the neighbors showed us."

"We're not planning on doing much mowing," Mr. Smith chuckles. "Also, because of the warm weather, we will have two growing seasons for our vegetables. That means fresh vegetables almost all year long."

While the Smiths will enjoy many of these things, their big pleasure will come with participating in their favorite past-time—square dancing and round dancing. "You can dance every day and twice on Sunday in Florida," we are told. "It's a square dancers heaven."

The Smiths presently belong to both Lancaster and Camp Hill dancing clubs. It is something they love to do together, as well as a good way of meeting people.

"It doesn't matter where in the world you go. If you meet a square dancer, you are made to feel at home," Ray says.

Square dancing consists of four couples forming a square and carrying out the steps given by the caller. Round dancing is a little different. Couples form a circle, thus the number that can be included is unlimited. The dancing is of a ballroom type, incorporating such dances as the fox trot, the waltz, the swing and even the hustle. "Disco is making an entry into the round dancing," says Mrs. Smith.

The Smiths not only enjoy dancing the round dances, but Ray also writes the choreography to music. Thus far he has written over twenty-five new themes, one which make the top ten of dances.

"It was funny," says Elizabeth, "but the one dance club to which we belong had a going-away party for us. I told Ray they would probably dance his dances at this party, so before we went we practised all of them, some of which we had forgot. Sure enough, they did dances his dances, and not only that! They made us perform front and center. We were great, too, having just practised all of these dances. Nobody thought to question how we had remembered them all so well!"

The Smiths have danced for various groups and occasions; they have even appeared on television; but Ray feels the most rewarding times are when they really made someone else happy. "We have danced several times at the Elizabethtown Children's Home, and the joy on those kids' faces made me feel really good. I also remember performing at Hershey Park for Old Folks Day. Our caller had several members of the audience come up and join us on stage. You could just see by their faces that they were have a grand old time."

The Smiths plan to attend dancing workshops while in Florida to keep them up-to-date on all of the new steps. "If we could only take all of our friends with us, things would be just perfect," says Elizabeth.

As it is, the Smiths will have no trouble cultivating new friends in Florida. They have already met several dancers in their trips to the sunny state, and they have great plans for the future. "We are going to have a good time!" declares Ray. And they will.

Maytown Fire Chief Charles Shaffner reported ten emergency fire calls for the month of December. The Fire Company also responded on one public service call.

Fire calls included one auto fire alarm, one dumpster fire, one furnace malfunction, one reported car fire, one structure fire, one assist on a structure fire and four vehicle accidents. Fire equipment was in service 6 hours, 46 minutes. 83 firemen and eleven fire police responded on the calls.

Property damage for the month is estimated at $16,750. Firemen saved property estimated at $78,700.

The January Fire Company meeting is Monday, January 14 at 7:00 pm.

Troop 1123 celebrates Mexican Christmas

Brownie Troop 1123 of Mount Joy had their Christmas party Monday evening, Dec. 17th.

The girls learned how children in Mexico celebrate Christmas. They played games, sang songs, exchanged gifts and broke open a pinata with a stick. Santa Claus paid a surprise visit to the party and gave each girl a gift from his sack. The evening ended with a friendship circle and singing of taps.

The leaders are Jill Shupp and Jean Germer.
