It was noted that only the sanctuary building is exonerated from taxes, but the board suggested working out a plan whereby the church pays taxes and the school pays for some use of the building. The proper persons would be notified regarding this request.

It was decided not to pay for the transportation of several physical education classes to and from Clearview Bowling Lanes. The cost would have been $550. At this time the students are paying $.50 a trip for their once-a-week trip to the bowling alley. Dr. Hartzler mentioned that requests for educational field trips by the elementary schools had been denied and he could not "in good conscience" vote for this expense.

The board approved a contract with Susquehanna Developers, Inc. of Columbia for $1270 for repairs of rain gutters at the Seiler Elementary School. This money would be transferred from other categories of the Seiler budget.

Anyone interested in applying for a job as district census taker should submit their name at the district office before February 7. Successful applicants will be confirmed at the February meeting. The census takers will serve from March 1 to May 1. This census will still be taken in spite of the national census. The national census, because of its large scale, often takes several years to process.

There was a report given by the Donegal School Authority. They announced that all officers were re-elected. They include: Jay Houseal, chairman; James R. Baker, vice chairman; Robert Greider, secretary; William Eby, assistant secretary; and Robert Kline, treasurer. Eby was re-appointed to the authority to serve a five-year term. The firm of Groff and White was reappointed auditors for the authority.

Want adventure? Join Friendship Force on trip to mystery country

The second public information meeting of the Friendship Force of Lancaster will be held at 7:00 pm Tuesday, January 29, at the Good N' Plenty Restaurant, Smoke-town.

Persons interested in a ten-day visit to an unidentified foreign country will view a videotape explaining the program, have questions answered, and may sign applications either as "ambassadors" or as local host.

The fifty persons whose applications have already been accepted may attend, and bring along interested friends. The tour group will consist of 254 people. They will leave Harrisburg International Airport May 3 for the unidentified foreign land, and return May 16. The same plane will bring a similar group to Lancaster County. The stay will include four days as guests in homes, and four more either traveling in the host country or as guests in another home. Two days will be set aside for plane travel. The fee is $479 per person.

Each person accepted for the flight is expected to provide a local host family; local hosts will be given first preference on future trips.

Dr. A.G. Breidenstine, chairman of the applications committee, will be in charge of the meeting, assisted by members of his committee. He will explain the workshops which will be held prior to departure to acquaint travelers with the exchange country's history, culture and values, how to bridge the language barriers, and give travel tips.

Eugene R. Witmer, exchange director for Lancaster, has donated office space for Friendship Force at Millstream Motor Lodge, 170 East Brook Road, Smoketown, and persons unable to attend the meeting may pick up applications there. Willard Funk, retired city school administrator, has accepted the position of assistant exchange director and office manager. Friendship Force telephone number is 291-9763.
