Students in room 50 at Riverview learn about stay in the hospital

Mrs. Barbara Elliot, Director of Volunteer Services for the Memorial Osteopathic Hospital, York, was guest speaker for students of room #50, Riverview Elementary School, the past Wednesday.

Mrs. Elliot, who also organizes and conducts tours of the hospital for school groups, explained to the students that "a hospital stay can be as enjoyable as we make it."

The talk was in conjunction with the class's unit study on disease control. Mrs. Elliot showed slides of hospital scenes in the pediatrics department, progressing from admission to discharge.

With the help of play instruments, the children were encouraged to take each others temperatures, handle an intravenous needle and pretend to measure blood pressure. The stethoscope's function was also explained.

Each child received the plastic identification bracelet one would receive when being admitted to a hospital and told it could be removed only when cut by scissors.

Mrs. Elliot is the mother of Amy, who is a student in Mrs. Shorr's class.
