

Game Commission accepts goose blind appl.

Applications for hunting from goose blinds at the Pennsylvania Game Commission's two controlled hunting areas at Pymatuning and Middle Creek will be accepted from September 1 through September 20.

Hunters are permitted to apply to only one of the two areas. If a person applies to both areas, that person will not be eligible to hunt on either area.

A hunter will be permitted only one hunting trip to a controlled goose area. If a person hunts geese on one area, that person will not be eligible to return to that facility as a hunter this year, and that person will not be eligible to hunt on the other controlled goose shooting area in 1980.

Drawings will be held by the Game Commission at Pymatuning and Middle Creek in late September to select blind holders for both controlled shooting areas.

A reservation will entitle the applicant to bring not more than three guests. The guests must be present to register.

Reservation requests must be made on official application forms and submitted to either the Pennsylvania Game Commission, Pymatuning Waterfowl Area, R.D.1, Harstown, PA 16131, or to the Pennsylvania Game Commission, Middle Creek Wildlife Management Area, R.D.1, Newmantown, PA 17073.

The applicant's 1980-81 hunting license number, including the letter, must be listed on the application. Applications must be post-marked no earlier than September 1 but not later than September 20. Only successful applicants, as determined in the drawings, will be notified. Reservations are not transferable.

A federal migratory bird hunting stamp (duck stamp) is required to hunt geese and ducks.

Only one official application per person may be submitted. Provisions have been made at both Middle Creek and Pymatuning to accommodate handicapped persons if they are successful applicants.

40 children get awards from library

Forty area children recently received certificates of achievement for successfully completing the summer fun reading program at the Mount Joy Public Library.

In order to qualify, each participant read three fiction and three non-fiction books and completed a project in the form of a book report, a drawing, a recipe or a craft for each selection read. These projects are currently on display at the Mount Joy Public Library.

The program was sponsored by Pappy's Pizza. The sponsor also presented each child with a coupon redeemable for a pizza and coke at the local Pappy's Restaurant.

Those children who successfully completed the program are:
