

Sico Co. buys Mount Joy's Garber Oil

The Garber Oil Co., Mount Joy, has been purchased by the Mount Joy-based Sico Co., it was announced by the Sico Company recently. Sico purchased the Garber company from its owners, Robert and Richard Campbell.

Garber Oil's twenty employees will be retained, said Robert McGinly, Sico president.

Garber distributes Texaco products and supplies gasoline to about 15 area service stations and fuel oil to 1,700 local residential and commercial customers.

Sico markets gasoline and fuel oil in 11 counties in southeastern Pennsylvania and Northern Maryland. Their primary products are Citgo. Sico acquired the John G. Stumpf Co., an ARCO distributor based in Lancaster, last year.

Amtrak eliminates five stops

Five stops of the Amtrak trains runs between Philadelphia and Harrisburg will be eliminated at Mount Joy effective Sunday, October 26, the passenger train corporation announced last Thursday.

Mount Joy will still be served by about ten trains in each direction. The cuts are due to low patronage, according to Amtrak.

The stops to be eliminated are: to Harrisburg, train 605 (arriving in Mount Joy at 9:22 am), train 617 (arriving at 6:55 pm), and train 621 (arriving at 11:55 pm); to Philadelphia, train 604 (arriving at 7:22 am) and train 618 (arriving at 7:43 pm).

Mount Joy Mayor James Gingrich signs a proclamation making October 19th to 25th national BPW week. Looking on are Joyce Mumma [seated] vice president of the Mount Joy BPW, and Alice Marie Nissley, Public Relations chairman.

National BPW week; October 19th to 25th

James Gingrich, Mayor of Mount Joy, signed a proclamation last Thursday declaring the week of October 19 to 25 National Business Women's Week. Member of the Mount Joy Business and Professional Women held a Sunday morning breakfast to "kick-off" the National BPW activity.

Women comprise over forty percent of the nation's work force and contribute substantially to the economy. Each year more and more qualified women are being placed in important policy-making positions in government, business and the professions.

Since 1919 the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs has worked toward its goal of promoting the interests of women in business and the professions. The Pennsylvania Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, a charter federation, is the largest of state organizations with almost 12,000 members in 214 clubs across the commonwealth.

Deriving its membership from such varied professions as doctors, clerks, nurses, secretaries, lawyers and entrepreneurs, the Pennsylvania Federation of BPW clubs work toward creating better conditions for women in the business world by promoting co-operation, increasing employment opportunities available to women, and sponsoring continuing educational and vocational programs. Each year, the Pennsylvania Federation joins the national organization in celebrating National Business Women's Week during the third week in October to draw attention to the economic, political and social impact of working women.

The Mount Joy club welcomes working women to join the organization simply by making it known to a member of the club. Officers of the Mount Joy BPW are: Mrs. John Fry, president; Mrs. Joe Mumma, first vice president; Mary Jane Hoffer, second vice president; Mrs. J.R. Baker, recording secretary; Mrs. Barry Enos, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Bookwalter, treasurer; Mrs. Eugene Eicherly, parliamentarian; Mrs. Ralph Richards, historian; and Mrs. Lester Koder, newsletter editor.

The club meets the fourth Monday of each month at Hostetter Banquet Hall, Mount Joy.
