Marietta Borough will seek funds for storm sewers, street construction

Marietta Borough Council last Tuesday night approved the filing of applications for community development monies.

Included in the proposed 1981 projects are the continuing reconstruction of storm sewers on Front Street and the connectors that lead into the sewers.

Marietta has received more than $500,000 in community development funds and is requesting $105,000 for Phase 3 of the ongoing storm sewer and street construction projects. This year's $80,000 allocation will become available this week.

This information was submitted by Dave White, a former councilman, who consented to continue his services in filing applications for additional community development funds.

Last year's proposal for the $300,000 reconstruction of Front Street was denied funding. It was too early to begin that work due to the storm sewer reconstruction that was still going on.

In other business, council voted to increase the trash collection fees to $10 a quarter for 1981. The operation, which now takes in $8 a quarter, is not paying for itself.

Council members approved a three-year contract for William Roberts, police chief. Roberts, whose current salary is $15,000, will receive a 10 percent raise the first year, a 9 percent the second and an 8 percent raise the third year of the new contract.

Arbitration is continuing for the other officers' salaries.

Council voted to have a member of the police department present for the entirety of each council meeting.

It was announced that per capita tax delinquents will be prosecuted by wage [continued on page 4]

BPW Candlelight Tour scheduled this Sunday

Seven locations are included on this year's Mount Joy Business and Professional Women's Club Candlelight Tour to be held Sunday, November 23, from 2 to 7 pm. Buildings on the tour run the gamut from early log structures to ultra-modern structures. Both private and public buildings are included, affording a well-rounded tour.

Tickets are available for

$2.59 from any club member, or at any location the day of the tour. Free refreshments will be served at the Assumption of BVM Catholic Church, Union School Road, Mount Joy.

The following locations will be part of the tour:

The Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Brenneman residence, Donegal Springs Road, Mount Joy, R.D.#1. The structure,

East Donegal OKs fire hall addition

The East Donegal Township supervisors gave the go-ahead for the construction of a $130,000 addition to the Maytown-East Donegal fire hall to an Elizabethtown contractor at last Thursday's meeting.

Low bidder on the project was John E. Martin, who received the contract, pending negotiation of one change order.

The addition will include an ambulance bay, meeting and dining room, lounge and new roof.

In other matters, the supervisors reported that people caught removing or switching signs at Rock Point Park will be prosecuted and required to replace the signs.

The Park Commission reported taking in $100 for the pavilion use for the summer season, with $20 spent for the replacement of Donegal Braves Midget football "C" team, recipient of the Maxwell-Wagner Memorial Trophy for having the "winningest record" in the Braves organization.

Midget football players are honored

The Donegal Braves Midget football players, cheerleaders and coaches were honored at a covered dish banquet last Thursday at Riverview Elementary School.

The Braves were organized twenty years ago. Gary Maxwell, Park Avenue, Mount Joy, has been involved with the Braves program since its formation.

The year Maxwell graduated from high school he presented the idea of beginning a midget football program to people who were then members of the high school booster club. That group included Lee Holtzman, Dr. John and Alma Gates, Sam and Dolly Maxwell, John Wagner, Earl and Yvonne Koser and

Art and Mary Jane Schneider.

The first year 33 boys participated in the program. They played against three other teams in the newly formed Red Rose League. One member of the original Braves team, James Smith, now serves as a coach for the organization.

The only other teams in the league at that time were the Presidents, Conestoga Valley and Manheim Township.

Not only boys are involved in the program. Girls participate as cheerleaders.

This season approximately 100 boys and 50 girls received trophies and silver dollars for their efforts.

The "C" team was presented the Maxwell-Wagner Memorial Trophy for having the "winningest record." That team, coached by John Zerphey, Don Neal, George Williams and Dan Tompkins had six wins and four losses this season.

The Maxwell-Wagner trophy is presented in memory of Sam Maxwell and Roy Wagner, two men who were active in the Braves program.

Plaques in recognition of five years of service in the Red Rose Midget League were presented to James Grady, equipment manager, and Randy Richards and William (Bump) Yohe.
