Marietta Candlelight Tour Sunday

The Marietta Restoration Associates will conduct their 15th annual Christmas Candlelight Tour this Sunday, December 7, from 2 to 7 pm. The tour, one of the largest in the area, includes private homes as well as non-residential buildings. The emphasis on this season's tour is the adapting of old buildings for modern usage.

A special feature of the day's festivities is the Kingsford Consort, a musical ensemble featuring period selections from Medieval to Baroque played on antique instruments at the Union Meeting House on North Waterford Avenue. Concerts will be at 3 and 5 pm.

An Associates' produced slide show will be shown continuously on the second floor of the Community House.

Many shops and restaurants in the town will be open this Sunday in conjunction with the tour. See page 5 advertisements.

Lunch will be served at the Marietta Fire Hall, North Waterford Avenue, for $2.50.

The Diane and Roger Jackson Home was built one hundred and thirty years ago by Henry Musselman, a local ironmaster, as his second home. The present owners are the fifth family to occupy this large, stately residence. The white brick facade is accentuated by ornate ironwork. Interior shutters and dog-eared windows add charm to the family antiques.

The Carroll's Home, located at 467 East Market Street, has come back to life after being vacant for more than twenty years. A major addition has been added to the east side of the frame house. Keeping to the original structure, an open beam ceiling highlights the living-dining room in the new addition. The bathroom has a copper bathtub, slate floor, marble sink top and original brass fixtures.

The Mack Brewery, 139 East Market Street, was originally 2½ stories before an early twentieth century fire reduced it to its present size. Built circa 1834, and still used as a brewery in 1876, it was used as an amusement center during the early part of this century, housing billiards, bowling and roller skating. It was also used as a sewing factory until 1971, and in 1975 the current tenant moved in and opened a small antiques and gift shop.

The Union Meeting House, built in 1817, is one of the current projects of the Restoration Associates. The Meeting House has served as a house of worship for nearly all denominations in the community.

Old Town Hall Museum, Walnut and New Haven Streets, was formerly the seat of local government and now houses a collection of items from Lancaster County's past. Curators Henry and Miriam Lenhart leased the building when demolition threatened the landmark in 1961.

Larry Gibble's townhouse will be one of 15 stops on the annual Marietta Candlelight Tour this Sunday. The stenciling on the door frame was done by Larry.

Public hearing: Maytown development

A proposal to go ahead with a large-scale federally subsidized housing development on the edge of Maytown will be presented at a hearing in the East Donegal Township Municipal Building, Monday, December 8, at 7 pm.

The hearing is open to the public.

Julius Goldfarb of Maytown Associates, builders of Country Village on what was formerly the farm of William Endslow, will propose bypassing the second phase of the project, which included plans for relocating a pumping station and the construction of catch basins for run-off rainfall. It has been reported that Goldfarb considers the second phase unprofitable for his firm.

Goldfarb will propose advancing immediately to the third phase of the project, development of the area near the Maytown airport. According to unverified reports, the third phase will include the construction of 400 to 500 dwelling units, some of them townhouses, for low and middle income families.

See the legal notice regarding this meeting on page 11.

Santa Claus comes to Mount Joy

Ho! Ho! Ho! Santa Claus, that jolly fat fellow from the North Pole, will make his annual trip to Mount Joy this weekend.

Santa will arrive in Mount Joy Friday night, December 5, at 6:00 pm via motor home. He will arrive at the Old Theater Building, Main Street, and greet children in the lobby of the building.

On hand to greet the jolly ol' St. Nick will be Mount Joy Mayor Jim Gingrich, Borough Manager Bruce Hamer, Merchants Association president Clara Hostetter, and Jaycee president Al Swanson.

The Mount Joy Jaycees are responsible for getting Santa Claus to travel to Mount Joy from the North Pole.
