

BPW group hears speaker from Shelter for Women

Ada Farver, assistant director of the Shelter for Abused Women, Lancaster, was guest speaker at the November session of the Mount Joy Business and Professional Women's Club.

The Shelter, according to Ms. Farver, offers shelter to women and children beaten and abused at home and in need of temporary housing. The organization has been operating for five years and there is always a waiting list. Most clients are recommended by the police department.

Clients remain at the center 30 days (or longer if needed). The shelter has already lodged 625 people and counseled an additional 500. 15 volunteers man the office "hot line."

Mrs. George Broske presented piano selections for the group. The program was arranged by the Legislation committee with Mrs. Richard White acting as chairperson.

Mrs. James Spangler, a member of the personal development committee, introduced Donegal girl of the month, Sheri Suter, and her mother, Mrs. Paul Suter.

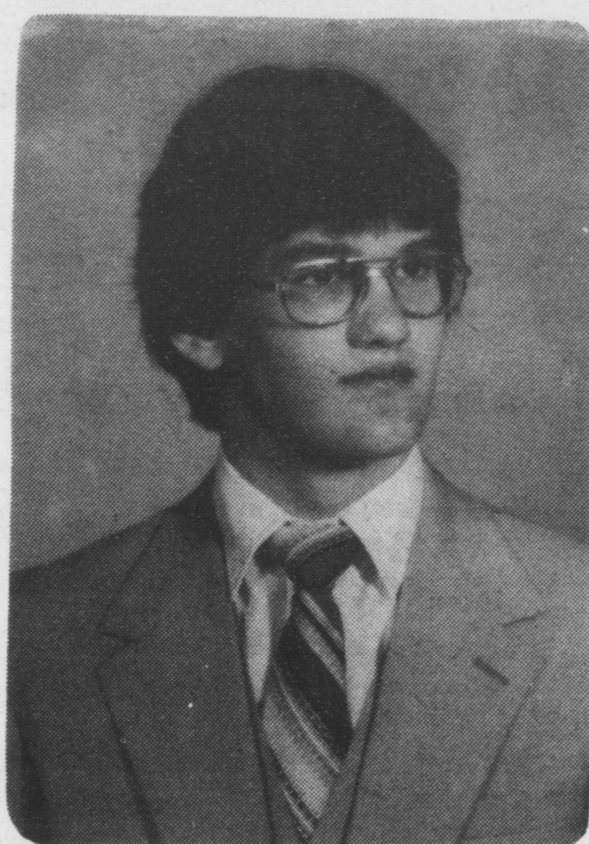

Mrs. Herbert Sarver reported 144 lap robes have been contributed for the Christmas Senior Citizen project. The coverlets will be distributed by members to former Mount Joy residents now in nursing homes and state hospitals.

Mrs. Abe Weidman presented the club with a $150 check won for her table setting "Apples and Ivy" at a recent contest held at David's Furniture in Elizabethtown.

It was announced that the December 8 meeting will be arranged by the Music and Social committee.

Mount Joy JCs look for good young educator

The Mount Joy Jaycees are soliciting nominations from the community for an Outstanding Young Educator award this year.

To be eligible, teachers should teach or live in Mount Joy, be active in the community and be no more than 35 years of age. Candidates may be either male or female.

The Jaycees felt this is an excellent way for you to show your appreciation of the unsung efforts of a favorite teacher or administrator.

Contact any Jaycee member or call 653-1262 before December 15 with your nomination.
